

VICE PRESIDENT JAMES SCHOOLCRAFT SHERMAN DIES AT HOME IN UTICA

PASSED AWAY AT 9:42 LAST NIGHT—DEATH WAS EXPECTED HOURLY AND HE WAS SURROUNDED BY HIS FAMILY WHEN THE END CAME—RALLIED IN EARLY EVENING AND KNEW THOSE ABOUT HIM

After Seven O'Clock He Lapsed Into A State of Unconsciousness From Which He Did Not Rally—He Will Be Much Missed In Official Washington and Mourned By All Who Knew Him and of His Work for the Nation—Death Will Not Legally Embarrass Republican Party As the Vote Next Tuesday Will Be For Electors and Not For the Individuals Who Head Their Respective Tickets—Funeral Arrangements Will Be Announced Today.

UTICA, N. Y., OCT. 30.—After a long illness, Vice-president James Schoolcraft Sherman died at his home in this city at 9:42 o'clock tonight of uremic poison caused by Bright's disease. He had been sinking since early morning and it was realized that death was a question of only a few hours.

There was relief, only slight, shortly after 7 o'clock caused by an apparent improvement in the condition of the kidneys, but it did not prove real or lasting and all best gave only temporary hope. At 9 o'clock the patient's temperature rose to 106. From that time his condition rapidly passed from bad to worse until the end. Mr. Sherman was unconscious when the end came and had been in that condition for hours. All the members of the immediate family were witnesses to the final scene. In addition to Mrs. Sherman there were in the death chamber three sons, Sherill, Richard U. and Thomas H. Sherman, and their respective wives; R. M. and Sanford Sherman, brothers of Mr. Sherman, and Mrs. L. B. Moore and Mrs. H. J. Cookinham, sisters of Mr. Sherman.

Dr. Peck Issues Statement.
Soon after Mr. Sherman's death Dr. Fayette A. Peck, the attending physician, issued the following statement:

"The vice-president died at 9:42 p. m. without regaining consciousness for a moment he was perfectly quiet. He died in the presence of his wife, her brother and sister, his two brothers and his three sons and their wives. He had been entirely unconscious since 7 o'clock when he had a period of partial consciousness lasting for about 15 minutes. He died in a uremic coma as a result of Bright's disease, heart disease and arterio-sclerosis."

Health Declined Since August.
Mr. Sherman's decline in health dates from August 21, when he was formally notified of his nomination as vice-president, according to Dr. Peck. He was warned that the election incident to the ceremonies might have an ill effect, but insisted that the program as arranged be carried out.

"You may know all about medicine," Mr. Sherman told his physician, when the doctor urged him to arrange for a brief and informal notification. "But you don't know about politics."

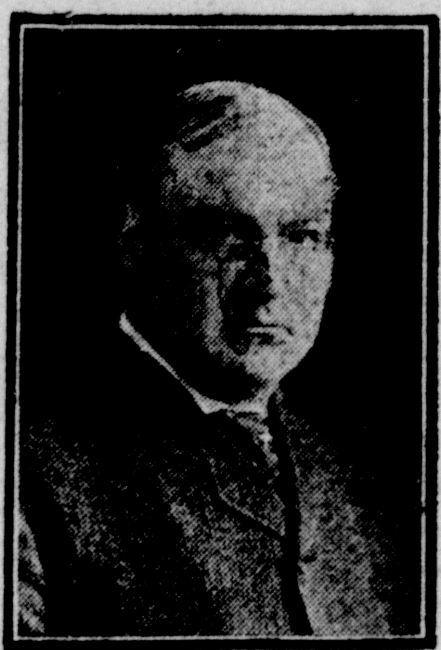

"When it became apparent he would not yield to my suggestions," Dr. Peck added, "I urged him to make a speech of not more than five minutes. Instead he spoke for more than half an hour. Two days later the exertions of notification day began to tell on the patient and he began to fail."

Funeral Arrangements Made Today.
Soon after the vice-president's death, it was announced that the members of the family wished to be left undisturbed tonight and that no arrangements for the funeral would be made before tomorrow.

Political activities of the different parties, it was announced tonight, will be deferred for a time. The Democrats also declared they would take down a Wilson banner which had been hung across a principal street. The Progressives announced a postponement of the speech of Governor Johnson, scheduled for tomorrow night.

Was Born in New Hartford.
James Schoolcraft Sherman was born in New Hartford, N. Y., a suburb of Utica, on October 24, 1857. He was admitted to the bar in 1880, and by then had attracted the attention of local leaders, who made him county chairman in Oneida. After that his rise was rapid. During his long service in congress he was a close friend of Thomas B. Reed, and he presided over the house more frequently than any other member.

To Mr. Sherman Colonel Roosevelt, when president, addressed the "million dollar Sherman letters," which announced Edward H. Harriman to be a prominent member of the "Ananias Club." It was in the fight for state party control in the 1910 convention at Saratoga in which Mr. Sherman was delegate, that the friendship with Roosevelt was broken.

HON. JAMES S. SHERMAN,
Late Vice-president of the United States.

Wins Sobriquet of "Sunny Jim."
Mr. Sherman's personal popularity was not confined to those of his own political faith. He radiated good nature and this won for him the sobriquet of "Sunny Jim."

He was a big man, tipping the scales at about 225 pounds. Usually he wore the square topped derby made familiar by his pictures, an English walking coat and a colored waistcoat. He was an enthusiastic golfer and baseball fan.

He was interested in many manufacturing concerns and was president of the Utica Trust and Deposit Company and the New Hartford Canning Company.

Mr. Sherman's wife was Miss Carrie Babcock, of New York. They were married in 1884. She and three sons, Sherill, Thomas H. and Richard U. Sherman survive him.

The vice-president was an Elk, a trustee of Hamilton College, a member of the Dutch Reformed church, a member of many clubs and a business man of wide interests.

Senate Will Attend Funeral.
New York, Oct. 30.—The senate as a whole, will be appointed as a committee to attend the funeral of Vice-President Sherman, according to announcement made here tonight by Senator Bacon, president pro tempore of that body.

President Receives News.

New York, Oct. 30.—President Taft was informed of the death of Vice-President Sherman at 9:30 o'clock as the chief executive and his secretary of the navy were seated in the thirteenth regiment armory, Brooklyn, as guests of honor at a dinner to them by employees of the Brooklyn navy yard in celebration of the successful launching of the battleship New York today.

The president had just finished a plea for a greater navy, and Commander Greaves of the navy yard was speaking at the time when the news of Mr. Sherman's death was broken to the president.

President Taft at first made no comment after hearing the news. He remained seated quietly, concealing emotions which he might have had, until Commander Greaves and Congressman Calder had finished their speeches. He then rose and said:

"My Friends: Three years ago you met on an occasion like this to celebrate the launching of the Florida, and you were honored by the presence of the vice-president of the United States—Vice-president Sherman."

"It is a very sad duty for me to announce that the word had just come that the vice-president has passed away. Those who knew him, loved him, those who knew the services he rendered to his country, respected him. I venture to ask that this assemblage adjourn in honor of his memory and that no further proceedings be taken. A period of silence followed the president's words. The band came to the relief of the situation by playing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and the naval men filed out quickly. The president was escorted to his automobile. Tears came to his eyes. He was lost sight of, however, as he stepped inside of the car and was whisked across Brooklyn bridge and to the Pennsylvania railroad station in New York where he was due to take his train at 11:30 o'clock for Washington.

Fifth Vice-president to Die in Office.
Washington, Oct. 30.—News of Vice-president Sherman's death, though it had been expected hourly, was received with profound sorrow in official Washington.

The vice-president's death leaves the present senate without any regular presiding officer. The late Senator Frye's place as president pro tempore has not been filled. Neither Senator Gallinger, the candidate of the regular Republicans, nor Senator Bacon, the candidate of the Democrats, has been able to command the necessary majority vote. Meanwhile, during the vice-president's absence, the senate has been presided over by Senators Gallinger and Bacon alternately, by agreement. By this agreement Senator Bacon is charged with the duties of that office now and to him will fall making the arrangements for the senate's participation in the funeral ceremonies.

According to the constitution the succession to the presidency now goes to Secretary Knox of the state department, who also figures as a presidential possibility, should the election throw the contest into the house.

Mr. Sherman was the fifth vice-president whose death in office shocked the nation. Vice-president King died during Pierce's administration; Vice-president Wilson, during that of Grant; Vice-president Hendricks, during that of Cleveland, and Vice-president Hobart, during McKinley's first term.

Does Not Legally Embarrass Party.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Removal from the ticket of a vice-presidential candidate before the November elections, it was generally stated here tonight, does not lead to legal embarrassment to his party.

This conclusion was based largely upon the fact that the voters next Tuesday do not vote directly for president and vice-president but vote for electors, who are clothed with power, under the constitution to select whoever they please when they meet in their respective states on the second Monday in next January to ballot for a president and vice-president and to certify that result to Washington.

While the names of the presidential and vice-presidential candidates are universally printed at the head of the respective list of electors, this is regarded as a matter of party wisdom to bind the electors morally, and to describe their political complexion for the convenience of voters.

It is said by some that any Republican elector selected at the Tuesday election would be as much bound by a selection for vice-president by the national committee or by party convention after next Tuesday, but before the meeting of the electoral colleges in January, as if the selection had been made months before the November election.

Question of His Successor.
New York, Oct. 30.—The death of Vice-President Sherman gives point to the serious discussion of the question of succession.

His death does not necessitate any change in the ballots already printed and in process of distribution to the polling places, for no vote is cast directly for the vice-president.

The death of Mr. Sherman, of course, relieves the Republican electors, if elected, from the moral obligation to vote for him and the question will arise whom they should vote for in his place. As it is a party matter, and the governing body in the party is the Republican national committee it is the proper function of that committee to meet and recommend to them a candidate for vice-president to be voted for by the national committee or by party convention. Such notice cannot be given in less than six days. It is therefore manifestly impossible to hold such a meeting prior to the election next Tuesday.

"Such a nomination can properly be made only after due and reasonable notice to all the members of the committee. Such notice cannot be given in less than six days. It is therefore manifestly impossible to hold such a meeting prior to the election next Tuesday."

"Meantime no difficulty or inconvenience arises to the voters at the election next Tuesday, because the vote is to be cast for electors and not for candidates for either president or vice-president, and the death of Mr. Sherman, therefore, does not affect the validity of the election of the electors."

SAYS I. H. C. PAID $8,000 TO DEFEAT KANSAS BILL

PAYS LAW FIRM BIG FEE FOR SERVICES IN DEFEATING UNDESIRABLE MEASURE

Former Head of Law Department of McCormick Harvester Co. Testifies That He Was Instructed by Cyrus H. McCormick to "Fix It Up."

CHICAGO, OCT. 30.—Testimony that the International Harvester company, in 1903, paid a law firm a fee of $8,000 to defeat a bill in the Kansas legislature designed to prohibit the corporation from using an exclusive agent clause in its contracts with its commission selling representatives, was given today by Rodney B. Swift, former head of the law department of the McCormick Harvester company and later connected with the consolidated company, in the hearing of the government's dissolution.

Mr. Swift testified that he was instructed by Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, and Charles Deering, chairman of the executive committee, to go to Kansas, attend to the matter, and "fix it up." The witness said he arranged with W. H. Rossington of the law firm of Rossington, Husted & Smith of Topeka, Kansas, to prevent the passage of the bill, and that later the firm presented a bill for $8,000 which was paid by the company. He said there was some delay in the payment of the bill and that Mr. Rossington was forced to make a trip to Chicago before he received the money.

Swift declared that Attorney Rossington, who died several years ago, told him that he had expended the money in preventing the passage of the bill in the Kansas legislature. Swift said that H. L. Daniels was in charge of the binder twine branch of the business; that the International Harvester company supplied sixty per cent of all the binder twine used in this country; that the profits of the McCormick Harvester company aggregated $16,000,000 for the years 1900, 1901 and 1902, although the corporation was capitalized for but $2,500,000.

He contrasted the change in business methods after the organization of the International Harvester company with the methods prior to 1902, when he said competition between the different companies was keen.

Previous to the organization of the alleged combine, the companies, he said, varied their prices to meet competition, took old machines in trade and allowed for repairs of new machines.

John J. Glessner, vice-president and director, and E. N. Wood, secretary of the International Harvester company, will be examined at tomorrow's session.

Limited to those voted for by electors in the electoral college, but the house, as at present constituted, would be unable to make a decision because the states vote as a unit and not more than one-half of the states are represented in congress by Democratic members. The decision would therefore go to the senate whose duty is to select a vice-president. The senate is limited in its choice to those two candidates who receive the highest number of votes for vice-president in the electoral college. If it results on Tuesday that the decision rests with congress, the selection of the candidate for vice-president has the utmost importance because the Democrats are in a minority in the present senate and if a Republican candidate for vice-president is selected he may succeed to the presidency. Already there has been discussion of the availability of Governor Hadley, Governor Deneen, Senator Borah, Senator Cummins, Senator LaFollette, former Vice-President Fairbank, Senator Root, Senator Burton, Senator Lodge, Governor Goldsborough and others.

Successor Will Be Chosen Nov. 12.
New York, Oct. 30.—The Republican national committee, shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, announced that he had called a meeting of the national committee for November 12, in Chicago, to select a successor of the late James S. Sherman as the Republican candidate for vice-president.

Mr. Hilges made the following statement:

"The national convention which met in Chicago in June delegated to the national committee power to fill vacancies on the national ticket. The death of Mr. Sherman, candidate of the Republican party for vice-president, at the coming election, makes it incumbent upon the national committee to nominate a candidate in his place. The nomination, however, cannot possibly be made prior to the election next Tuesday."

"Such a nomination can properly be made only after due and reasonable notice to all the members of the committee. Such notice cannot be given in less than six days. It is therefore manifestly impossible to hold such a meeting prior to the election next Tuesday."

"Meantime no difficulty or inconvenience arises to the voters at the election next Tuesday, because the vote is to be cast for electors and not for candidates for either president or vice-president, and the death of Mr. Sherman, therefore, does not affect the validity of the election of the electors."

"I have called a meeting of the national committee to meet upon the 12th of November, in Chicago, in the Auditorium Hotel, at noon, to select a successor to the late James S. Sherman, as candidate of the Republican party for vice-president of the United States."

ROOSEVELT GIVEN GREAT OVATION

Candidate Speaks to Enormous Crowd in Madison Square Garden

GETS HEARTY WELCOME

New Yorkers Cheer Colonel Forty Minutes Before He Can Make Himself Heard

DOES NOT BECOME FATIGUED

NEW YORK, OCT. 30.—Showing no physical evidence of the shock of his attempted assassination in Milwaukee on October 14th, Colonel Roosevelt faced for an hour and twenty minutes tonight, a Progressive political rally which gave many of his fellow New Yorkers a chance to accord him an uproarious welcome. For forty-two minutes after his entrance into crowded Madison Square Garden from the doors of which thousands were turned away, Colonel Roosevelt stood at the edge of the high-perched speaker's platform, unable to make himself heard above the din of cheers, songs and band music. His gestures to the crowd for silence served only to intensify the noise and when after 20 minutes of cheering Colonel Roosevelt made a determined effort to begin his speech, the audience was swung into another period of cheering by the beginning of the chant:

"We Want Teddy, We Want Teddy."

Colonel Roosevelt refused to sit down or to leave the rail that surrounded the flimsy platform. When opportunity finally came for him to begin his speech, he began it with a request to the police to maintain order.

The attention and silence that greeted the address by Colonel Roosevelt was marked as the demonstration that preceded it.

Governor Hiram Johnson, candidate for vice-president and Oscar S. Straus, Progressive candidate for governor of New York, preceded Colonel Roosevelt.

Governor Johnson still was speaking when Colonel Roosevelt was brought to the hall. As he appeared at the back of the platform men and women jumped on chairs and waved bandanas, flags and handkerchiefs and shouted recognition.

Colonel Roosevelt adhered to the text of his prepared speech. His voice was strong, penetrating to the extreme corners of the amphitheater. His right hand, because of the wound in his right side, was scarcely moved in gesture. He gestured vigorously with his left arm throughout his speech. The crowds about Madison Square Garden were orderly but the police exercised extreme care to prevent any confusion.

Colonel Roosevelt was strongly guarded and although the flashlight men got a picture or two, it was from a distance, for no one was allowed to approach him. He was escorted into the building by way of a fire-escape and left by the same route.

New York, Oct. 30.—Theodore Roosevelt, delivering in Madison Square Garden to night his first address since the one he delivered just after he was shot in Milwaukee, on October 14, spoke as follows:

"Friends, perhaps once in a generation, not more often, there comes a chance for the people of a country to play their part wisely and fearlessly in some great battle of the age-long warfare for human rights. To-day the chance came in the mighty days of Abraham Lincoln, the man who thought and toiled and suffered for the people with sad, patient and kindly endeavor. To our forefathers the chance came in the troubled years that stretched from the time when the first continental congress gathered to the time when Washington was inaugurated as first president of the republic. To us it is our turn the chance has now come to stand for liberty and righteousness as in their day these dead men stood for liberty and righteousness. Our task is not as great as theirs. Yet it is well high as important. Our task is to profit by the lessons of the past and to check in time the evils that grow around us; lest our failure to do so may cause dreadful disaster to the people. We must not sit supine and helpless. We must not permit the brutal selfishness of arrogance and the brutal selfishness of envy in each to run unchecked its evil course. If we do so then some day smouldering hatred will suddenly kindle into a consuming flame, and either we or our children will be called on to face a crisis as grim as any which this republic has ever seen."

Should Be Wise in Time.
"It is our business to show that nine-tenths of wisdom consists in being wise in time. Now to our nation is we let matters drift. If in our industrial and political life we let an unchecked and utterly selfish individualistic materialism riot to its appointed end, that would be widespread disaster, for it would mean that our people would be sundered by those dreadful lines of division on which are drawn when the selection is made."

NUNS DO HEROIC WORK IN ORPHANAGE FIRE

FIVE LAY DOWN LIVES IN FUTILE ATTEMPTS TO SAVE FOUNDLINGS

All But Two Children Are Saved in Fire Which Destroys St. Johns Orphanage at San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, OCT. 30.—Five nuns laid down their lives in heroic, futile efforts to save two foundlings from death in a fire which early today destroyed St. Johns Orphanage here. A sixth mortally stricken, and besides the two charges known to have been burned to death another, a boy, is missing and believed to be dead.

The Dead.
Mother Mary of the Cross, who was Katherine Rossiter, 51 years old, a native of Dublin, Ireland.
Mother Mary (Francis) Pasteur, (Sylvia Simpaster), 65 years old, native of Lyons, France.
Sister Mary Leacadia, (Catherine Nolan), 45 years old, native of Dublin, Ireland.

Sister Mary Peter Claver, (Catherine Slevian), 29 years old, native of Dublin, Ireland.
Sister Mary Monica, (Martha Moore), 60 years old, native of Chihuahua, Mexico.
George York, orphan, 12 years old.

Francis O'Brien, orphan, 2 years old.

The Missing.
Charles Matlock, an orphan.

The Fatally Injured.
Sister Mary Kostka, (Farrell), native of Keldare, Ireland, back broken, probably will die.

The dead nuns belonged to the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word and were among 9 who were in charge of the 8 children in the institution. Most of them were roused from sleep to find their beds almost in flames yet fearlessly they marshaled the children into the chapel where Mother Mary of the Cross had gone early for her devotions.

Mother Mary's Heroism.
A rapid count showed two missing. One was two year old Francis O'Brien known as "Billy" who had roused the other children by his screams. Mother Mary went back up stairs without hesitation, found "Billy" and had almost reached the firemen's ladders in safety with the child in her arms when she fell back into the fire. The two charred bodies were taken from the ruins.

Similar heroism characterized the attempts at rescue of the other nuns, some of whom fell in the flames, while others perished from terrible burns. Two servant women were burned and bruised but were not seriously injured.

One of the nuns assigned to get the children out of the building and who escaped from the fire, believed to have been caused by defective electric wiring, said every sister had searched the ward thoroughly in hopes of getting each child to safety. The children were dazed. "No matter how we hurried, the fire hurried faster," she said.

SEARCH FOR PAIR WANTED IN CHICAGO PROVES FRUITLESS
Conway and Wife Wanted by Chicago Police in Connection with Murder of Sophia Singer, Have Not Yet Been Located.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Charles D. Conway, high diver, circus clown and acrobat, and his wife, Beatrice Ryall, a burlesque actress, wanted by the Chicago police in connection with the murder of Sophia Singer, had not been found today, after a search that had been extended by telegraph over the country east of the Rocky Mountains. Reports that the two had been seen in Rochester, Ind., caused extra activity among the police of that state. The body of Miss Singer will be taken tomorrow to Baltimore, her former home, where her family is prominent.

William Randolph Worthen, with whom she eloped from her home city, intending to be married, is being held by the police as a witness to facts before the murder.

Chief of Detectives Halpin was notified today from various points that the Conways had been seen, but none of the clues resulted in their capture.

BULGARIANS REPORT ANOTHER VICTORY

Turks Retreat in Disorder and Bulgars Capture Town of Lule-Burgas

TURKS DEFENSE BROKEN

Turkish Forces Will Probably Retreat to and Make a Last Stand at Tohorlu.

SOFIA DISPATCHES VAGUE

BULLETIN.
Sofia, Oct. 30.—1:30 A. M.—After two days' fighting the Bulgarian army has gained a complete victory over the principal Turkish forces. The Turks have retreated in disorder. The town of Lule-Burgas has been taken.

Public attention has been centered in the operations around Adrianople and the movements of the Bulgarians against Lule-Burgas. This town is an important point in the Turkish second line of defense which stretches from there westward to Demotica. Its capture would indicate that this second line had been broken. Should this be the case the Turks probably would retreat to Tohorlu, where they might make a stand.

Forcing Turks to Saloni.
London, Oct. 30.—The advancing Serbian forces from Uskup, in conjunction with the Greeks, an Ellassona dispatch says, are forcing the Turks to concentrate west of Saloni. They probably will be compelled to give battle to the Greeks and Servians between Verria and Saloni, and this battle will decide the fate of Saloni. A Sofia dispatch says that a great battle has occurred near Lule-Burgas, which the Bulgarians captured.

From there they advanced to Muradli, from which point their cavalry patrols are believed to have pushed on as far as Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora.

London, Oct. 30.—The silence of Sofia concerning the great battle in the Thrace has at last been broken by a brief dispatch announcing a Bulgarian victory and the capture of the town of Lule-Burgas. This dispatch and equally laconic dispatches from the Turkish commander contain the only news yet available and still leave the situation rather obscure.

The message from Sofia refers apparently to early events, while the dispatch of Nasim Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, describes two battles, one a sortie from Adrianople in the direction of Maras, the other in the direction of Visa, from which it must be inferred that the engagements are extending over a long front.

A Sofia dispatch, sent before the capture of Lule-Burgas was known, throws a new light on the disposition of the Turkish forces. It is evident that earlier reports of the taking of this town were premature. It appears that the Turks' first line of defense extended along the Erkeno river, with a second line from Demotica to Lule-Burgas.

Both sides claim victory, but there is no reason to doubt that the Turkish second line of defense has been broken. Up to the present the Bulgarian official dispatches have been more reliable than the Turkish.

Nasim Pasha claims victory in the Visa region.

Sofia is still silent regarding this section and although the revelations concerning the demoralization and disorganization of the Turkish forces would predict further defeats, a considerable doubt is expressed here as to the position of the Bulgarians. Those continually extending lines of communication and the necessity of keeping a large force around Adrianople, might prove dangerous if Nasim Pasha is able to take a vigorous offensive action.

That the Bulgarians are bringing up all available resources is evident according to a dispatch from the correspondent of the Vienna Reichs Post, which relates that Bulgarian reserves were arriving all night in the vicinity of Adrianople. They were without uniforms and were drafted into line in the national costumes, but were adequately supplied with rifles, bayonets and cartridges.

No definite news has been received from the other allied armies since yesterday. The Montenegrin commander still is hammering at Tara-bosch, but is observing more caution in order to avoid needless sacrifice of life.

Evidence of the imminence of efforts on the part of the powers to intervene in favor of peace comes in an official pronouncement of the Bulgarian position, published in the semi-official newspaper, "Mir," which plainly declares that the allies will not be deprived of the fruits of victory.

Pan Flank Attack.
Thirty thousand Turkish troops, according to information from Turkish forces, have effected a landing on the Black Sea coast. They will attack the Bulgarians in the flank and rear.

TAFT ADVOCATES SHIP BUILDING PLAN

SHOULD BUILD TWO BATTLESHIPS YEARLY.

Policy of Two New Warships Every Year Would Keep Navy in Adequate Condition and Insure Peace.

New York, Oct. 30.—Two battleships yearly as a program necessary to keep the American navy in adequate condition were urged by President Taft as he stood on a table in the regiment armory in Brooklyn tonight addressing hundreds of sailors and marines. Secretary of the Navy Meyer also spoke, and he pleaded also for a greater navy, declaring that a fleet of 41 battleships is wanted—twenty-one in an active fleet and twenty in reserve—"for," he said, "in the larger calibre ships rests the defense of the country."

The president was greeted with several minutes of cheering when he entered the armory. The noise and confusion was so great when he started to speak that he found difficulty in making himself heard. The president thereupon climbed to a chair and thence upon the table, so that he could be heard in all parts of the hall.

"I congratulate the men of the Brooklyn navy yard in making and launching this great battleship, the New York, which is to add so much to the prestige and prowess of our country," the president said. "I congratulate you on the beauty of the launching of the vessel. Nothing happened to interfere with the work."

"We all hope that the New York will never be used in war. Her use to the country shall be in insuring peace in that all nations of the world will see that we are ready to defend ourselves if the occasion should arise."

"I believe public opinion in this country warrants those in authority in Washington to continue the policy of building two more most formidable battleships every year as this is necessary to keep our navy in adequate condition."

New York, Oct. 30.—Secretary Meyer, after he had reviewed the building of war vessels under government supervision, urged that it was the duty of American laboring men to insist upon an adequate navy. He declared that employees should realize that when forces were decreased in the government yards that the fault was not with the secretary of navy, but with "the body" that holds the strings of the purse. "As Americans, even before workmen," he said, "it is your duty to insist with your congressmen upon an adequate navy—a navy for the prevention of war and the maintenance of an honorable peace—but, above all, an adequate navy."

"We want, you and I, a fleet of forty-one battleships—twenty-one in an active fleet and twenty in reserve, and of these, we want twenty-one New Yorks or better as soon as possible, in the larger calibre ships, rests the defense of the country. Gives an adequate navy, the prosperity navy yards follows as sure as dawn follows darkness. You, then, as Americans, have a duty and I have pointed the way. Do your utmost; that never again shall we have to discuss the question of battleships and be confronted with the positive danger of securing only one for a year."

"Consider that you, too, are an essential part of the national defense. With every rivet you fasten you are defending the flag, and upon your doing your work well may depend the safety of the ship that carries your flag. If you do your work well, you have done your share in the national defense, as well as he who must fire your guns and fight your battles."

"The American laborer is the most honored man in the world; we have proved in the great land of ours over and over again throughout our history that labor conquers all things. We honor labor as does no other country on earth. We want the navy yard laborer to be the most honored among American workmen. Let patriotism and loyalty be your watchwords. I appeal to you, master workmen, keep in your men that esprit de corps without which no cause can succeed. Make the team work which has brought our fighting ships to their present state of efficiency also your guide."

"Some days ago there were assembled in the North River battleships, cruisers, destroyers, submarines and auxiliaries, the very flower of our fleet gathered together in review before the commander-in-Chief of the army and navy, the president of the United States, who, during his tour of office, has stood so firmly for efficiency, navy and a building program of not less than two battleships a year."

"I will not indulge in comparative figures or tabulated data, but, individually and collectively, the vessels of this fleet and the one then mobilized at Manila, together with such other vessels as were at sea following their lawful vocation, were in the history of our navy."

THE TIME OF NIGHT.
As a well known citizen passed an alley last night, someone coming out of the alley asked: "What time is it, about?" The W. K. citizen replied: "It is about half-past ten."

It reminded the latter of a story about one night in New York city, when there was a fierce fire. Right under the full light of it was the city hall clock, and a rough looking party asked a well-to-do one, "What time is it?" expecting the well-to-do party to get out his watch when the other would grab it and run. The reply was a blow in the face, which knocked the rough one down.

THE BIRTH RECORD.

SIXTY WOMEN ARE ARRESTED FOR WEARING LONG HATPINS

Prisoners Go to Jail Rather Than Pay Fines—"Hunger Strike" Similar to That in England Is Probable.

SYDNEY, Oct. 30.—For going about the city with their hat pins protruding, sixty women, most of them prominent in society, were tried, convicted and fined today in one Sydney court. The women went to jail rather than pay their fines, declaring that they would not submit to "iniquitous and unnecessary legislation."

The city authorities face a situation similar to that growing out of the suffrage demonstrations in England, as the women assert that if further arrests and imprisonment are ordered because of the hat pin ordinance they will declare a "hunger strike" in jail.

DAIRY SHOW PRIZE WINNERS.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—First prize in the Ayrshire classes of dairy cattle were carried off in three events at the National Dairy show here today by Adam Seltz, of Waukegan, Wis. Prizes in the Guernsey classes were won by W. W. Marsh, of Waterloo, Ia.; M. H. Tichenor, of Oconomowoc, Wis., and F. L. Ames, of Boston, Mass.

JACKSONVILLE IS NOW UNDER MARTIAL LAW

As Result of Disorders and Rioting in Connection with the Street Car Strike, Governor Has Ordered Out Two Regiments.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 30.—As a result of disorders and rioting here today in connection with the street car strike, Governor Gilchrist has ordered out the first and second regiments, state troops, comprising about 3,000 men.

The four local companies went on guard duty tonight. Attacks on the cars manned by strike breakers began early and during the day several motorists and conductors were beaten by mobs. A dozen or more others were forced to leave their cars in the streets and fled. Late today the police, after much confusion, succeeded in running all cars into the barns. The company announced tonight that under the protection of state troops another effort will be made tomorrow to resume service.

SPEAKS FOR ADMINISTRATION.

Youngstown, O., Oct. 30.—Attorney General Wickersham addressed a Republican meeting tonight in defense of the administration of President Taft and in arraignment of Colonel Roosevelt, whom he described as the "head of a mutiny."

The speech was filled with invective against the newspapers and magazines unfriendly to the administration which were described as untruthful and unfair and not to be depended upon to convey the real facts to the people.

Mr. Wickersham characterized Colonel Roosevelt "as a man who had betrayed every principal that had contributed to make him great" and was not only "an ingrate, but was out to become, if possible, a dictator."

Mr. Wickersham claimed that the administrative against trusts and aggregations of capital was one that was for the benefit of all the people, irrespective of party and proclaimed President Taft the great apostle of peace.

GIBSON CITY MAN DISAPPEARS.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Dr. W. H. Ely, of Gibson City, Ill., who came here with his wife to purchase an automobile two days ago, has been missing for thirty-six hours and police are searching the city for him, while Mrs. Ely is prostrated at the home of friends here.

Dr. Ely had more than $1,000 in his pockets when he was last seen by Mrs. Ely. Yesterday he telephoned to his wife that he was delayed trying out a car. Nothing has been heard from him since.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English, or, Medicine Simplified, 1968 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 51 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WITH THE ATHLETES.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., OCT. 30.—Minnesota's football squad was given a hard workout today in preparation for the game with Illinois next Saturday. Tomorrow will mark the close of the scrimmage practice for the week, the team getting only signal running on Friday.

Betting on the Illinois-Minnesota game is 2 to 1 on the Gophers.

CHICAGO, OCT. 30.—Pitcher Brown, of the Chicago Cubs, reported to have been released to the Louisville team of the American association may go to Terre Haute of the Central league as manager, according to reports here today.

BLOOMINGTON, IND., OCT. 30.—The University of Indiana football team mauling through a scrum today in an effort to get into shape for the Iowa game a week from Saturday.

ST. LOUIS, MO., OCT. 30.—With all the regulars out in uniform today, Washington university football team went through a stiff signal drill and a strenuous scrimmage with the second string men.

Fumbling, a weakness of the team heretofore, was conspicuously absent today. The followers of the eleven are encouraged to believe the scrubs today in an effort to get into shape for the Iowa game a week from Saturday.

URBANA, ILL., OCT. 30.—The University of Illinois football team today took its last hard scrimmage before the Minnesota game. Slickman's forward passes showed great improvement, which encourage the coaches as the team has been notably weak in this department.

The Illinois will practice in Chicago tomorrow afternoon and continue their journey to Minneapolis night.

FORT WAYNE, IND., OCT. 30.—Charles Dawson of the Zanesville baseball club, Thomas J. O'Connor, of the Erie team, and Claude Varnell of the Wheeling and Thomas J. O'Connor of Erie are here for the meeting of Central league magnates tomorrow and each of them is of the opinion that the circuit will be cut to eight clubs.

Dawson insists that Zanesville will maintain its place in the league. The debts of the club have been paid he said.

O'Connor is sure that Erie will continue in the league but Wheeling it is believed will be one of the first towns dropped.

Louis Helbroner is considered the most likely candidate for president in the event of Dr. Carson resigning.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., OCT. 30.—Theodore Woodbury York, right guard of the Yale varsity football team, died tonight after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was taken ill after playing the game against the Army at West Point on October 12th.

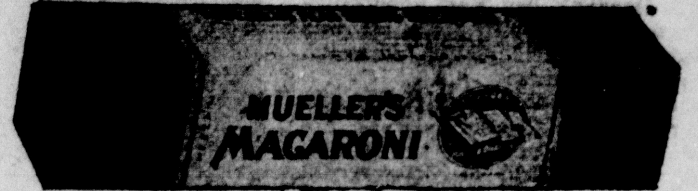

On account of York's death the Yale football management tonight cancelled the game that was to have been played in New Haven Saturday with Colgate.

FRENCH BALLOON IS VICTOR.
Berlin, Germany, Oct. 30.—The balloons in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup, which started from Stuttgart on Sunday, have been accounted for, excepting the Ile De France, Alfred Le Blanc, France, pilot and Dusseldorf II, John Watts, United States, pilot.

According to present figures the French balloon piloted by Maurice Hienams, wins first place, having covered about 1,250 miles. The English balloon, Honeymoon, apparently comes second; Seuche, Switzerland, third, and Reichsflugverein, Germany, fourth.

WERE BOOSTERS.
FOR ARKANSAS.
A special train, "Arkansas on Wheels," arrived in the city Wednesday morning over the Wabash from Springfield and remained here for some two or three hours. The special train was made up of nine cars, three for exhibitions and three for the accommodations of the boosters, 110 in all. A large number of citizens took the opportunity to visit the exhibits and to talk with the men. This is the third trip the boosters have made and they left nothing undone or unsaid to convince everyone that Arkansas was a great state. A 2,500 mile trip is planned, and the members seemed to enjoy the outing.

OFFICIAL AVERAGE

OF 1912, SHOOTERS

Inter-State Association List of Trap-Shooters' Average is Made Public by Secretary of Association.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—The official inter-state association list of trapshooters' average for 1912, embracing both single and double target shooting for amateurs and professionals, was made public here tonight by Elmer E. Shaner, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Averages for amateurs in single targets are based on the 800 single target shots and professionals in same class on minimum of 2,000 targets. Averages for double targets, both classes, are computed on the inter-state association tournament only and are based on taking part in two tournaments as a minimum. The first five in each division follow:

Single Targets, Amateurs.

Wm. Ridley, What Cheer, Iowa, .9587.

R. H. Bruns, Brookville, Ind., .9575.

George J. Roll, Blue Island, Ill., .9575.

Allen Heil, Allentown, Pa., .9537.

Harvey Dixon, Oronoco, Mo., .9512.

Single Targets, Professionals.

W. L. Crosby, O'Fallon, Ill., .9760.

George W. Maxwell, Hastings, Neb., .9655.

Homer Clark, Alton, Ill., .9650.

W. H. Heer, Guthrie, Okla., .9650.

BRYAN SPEAKS AT ENID.

Enid, Okla., Oct. 30.—William J. Bryan continued his campaign through Oklahoma today, speaking here and at Kingfisher in support of Governor Wilson.

Enthusiastic crowds greeted him, despite a steady rain. In his Enid speech Mr. Bryan said:

"I don't say our opponents won't get any electoral votes, but I do not concede any. Roosevelt has at least been referred to as the 'Moses' to lead the people out of their present troubles," but I will tell you the differences. Moses divided the waters of the Red Sea and permitted the children of Israel to pass through dry shoes. Roosevelt has divided the Progressives of the nation that Wall street interests may drive through unharmed."

MARSHALL WAXES SARCASTIC.

Marquette, Minn., Oct. 30.—Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, ridiculed President Taft in a speech made here this afternoon.

"Mr. Taft's recent utterances regarding the possibility of a panic in this country if we Democrats win the polls next week certainly is amusing," he said. "When Mr. Taft takes to crystal gazing and sees a panic in the wake of Democratic victory he forgets that no one ever saw a fat medium just as no one ever has been a cadaverous cupid. Mr. Taft, in the role of medium is about the funniest thing that has occurred in this campaign. He reminds me of one of Charles Dickens' characters, Joey Bagster, whom Dickens spoke of as being devilishly sly. If you are not familiar with Joey Bagster I urge you to look him up."

Although 14 hours behind his schedule owing to train delays the governor said he would make no abbreviation of his speaking program. He expected to speak in Winona tonight and be in Chicago tomorrow. There he will speak at noon and twice at night and thereafter will go to Indianapolis.

CLOSE SESSIONS FOR A TIME.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—The government's inquisition into the affairs of the United States steel corporation closed today as far as sessions in Pittsburg are concerned. The investigators expect to continue the inquiry at Washington about the middle of November. No sessions will be held at Cleveland as at first intended. The investigators if it is said have obtained information for the United States steel corporation which they expect to secure from witnesses summoned for the Cleveland hearing.

D. T. McCabe fourth vice-president of the Pennsylvania, one of the witnesses called today testified regarding the meeting of the Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio railroad traffic association in Cleveland in 1909 for the purpose of adjusting ore rates.

FIRE IN ELECTRIC AUTO.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—The fire department was called tonight to extinguish a blaze under an electric automobile which took fire in front of a downtown hotel. The flames were caused, it is said, by defective insulation.

The license number of the car was No. 9 which according to the records is held by Attorney General William Stead of Springfield. He car sped away as soon as the fire was put out.

DATE HAS NOT BEEN SET.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 30.—No date has been set for the wedding of Mrs. Frances Folsom Cleveland, widow of Grover Cleveland, and Prof. Thomas J. Preston, of Wells College, whose engagement was announced last night.

Prof. Preston made this announcement tonight.

ABOLISHES COMMON

DRINKING CUP

Secretary MacVeagh Knocks Out Time-Honored Drinking Cup From Railway Cars, Vessels and Depots.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh with one swoop, today, abolished the time-honored public drinking cup from railway cars, vessels and other conveyances operated in inter-state traffic and from depots and waiting rooms of common carriers.

This sweeping order against "any drinking cup, glass or vessel for common use" effective immediately is in the interest of the nation's health and was the direct result of an investigation by the United States public health service, a branch of the treasury department—which holds that the drinking cup is a menace as a carrier of disease. A drinking cup, it is said, may contain thousands of bacteria from disease-infected persons.

Mr. MacVeagh's action constituted an amendment to the inter-state quarantine regulations. Sherman Allen, assistant secretary of the treasury, stirred by the revelations of the public health service and the fact that twenty-six states already have laws forbidding the use of the common drinking cup, recommended the move to Mr. MacVeagh and was sustained by the solicitor of the treasury department as to the secretary's legal power to make the order.

Treasury officials recommend that the traveler equip himself with a clean sheet of white paper which by a direct folding can be turned into an impromptu drinking cup.

"The soldiers' cap of childhood will easily serve the purpose."

Common carriers may now provide drinking cups only in case they are thoroughly cleansed by washing in boiling water after use by each individual.

IS NOT A PARTY AT ALL.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 30.—"The Progressive party is not a party at all. It is a protest against Republican and Democratic incapacity."

With such phrases, Eugene V. Debs, candidate for president of the Socialist party, scored the Progressive, Democratic and Republican parties in a speech to an immense crowd at the Auditorium here tonight.

ARE COMMITTED TO JAIL.

Little Falls, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Thirty leaders and strikers in the textile strike here were committed to the Herkimer jail late today charged with assault in the first degree. They will be held without bail until the recovery of Spectator Officers and Kenney, who are in a hospital suffering from bullet and knife wounds received in a riot at the Phoenix mill today, where the police tried to break up picketing.

REWARD FOR BANDITS.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 30.—Rewards aggregating $8,000 were offered today by state and federal authorities for the arrest and conviction of the bandits who helped and robbed a Missouri, Kansas & Texas passenger train near Eufaula, Okla., on Tuesday morning.

Posses still are scouring the wild country in which the robbery took place, but have no trace of the fugitives.

J. B. Keptinger, of Waverly, was in Jacksonville on business Wednesday.

BECKER IS LODGED IN SING SING PRISON

SLEEPS IN "DEATH HOUSE" UNDER SENTENCE TO DIE WEEK OF DEC. 9.

Execution Will be Stayed by the Filing of an Appeal From the Verdict—Appeal Will Not be Heard for at Least Six Months.

OSSINING, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker is in the "death house" in Sing Sing tonight under sentence to die in the electric chair during the week of December 9th, the convicted murder of the gambler, Harman Rosenthal. He was brought here from New York today immediately after sentence was pronounced upon him by Justice Goff in the court room where he was found guilty six days ago.

Becker's execution will be stayed, however, by the filing in the interim of a notice of appeal from the verdict. In this lies Becker's only hope of escape from death. His last words before the gates of the prison were shut behind him this afternoon were:

"An Innocent Man."

"I come here an innocent man. I never had a chance. I was railroaded. But the fight has only begun. I expect a reversal of the verdict and a new trial."

Becker, manacled to a deputy sheriff arrived at the prison at 1:30 o'clock after a twenty minute walk through the streets of the village, surrounded by a crowd of several hundred persons curious to see him. With stolid countenance and head erect, Becker withstood the ordeal without losing his composure.

A window of the warden's office framed a woman's tearstained face as Becker marched up the prison walk. It was that of the convicted man's wife, who had accompanied him from New York and had driven ahead of him from the railroad station.

Becker waved his hand sadly and the woman threw a kiss. An hour later, after the formality of taking the prisoner's pedigree had been disposed of, Becker was in his death cell, in solitary confinement, clad in prison garb and entered as prisoner No. 62,499. Ten other condemned murderers occupy cells in the "death house."

Mrs. Becker was allowed to see her husband through the steel screen of his cell door before she departed, but was forbidden entrance. She purposes to make her residence in Ossining during her husband's confinement and will be allowed to visit him daily, but not to enter his cell.

It was said tonight that at least six months will elapse before the appeal by Becker's counsel will be heard by the court of appeals.

MAKES APPEAL TO NEW JERSEY DEMOCRATS

Woodrow Wilson Urges Election of Democrats to New Jersey Legislature and Also for His Successor.

Burlington, N. J., Oct. 30.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson made a vigorous appeal today in two counties hitherto Republican to send Democrats to the New Jersey legislature which convenes January 1st, next. While the presidential nominee touched often on national issues he chiefly directed his energy in three speeches toward overcoming the present Republican majority in the state legislature. To insure the choice of a Democratic governor to succeed himself in the event of his election to the presidency and to obtain also a Democratic legislature on joint ballot to send William Hughes to the United States senate. The governor was enthusiastically received at Cape May court house, and Burlington where he spoke, but he declared he was not seeking the suffrages of the people in his own behalf but for two instruments—a Democratic legislature and a Democratic United States senator to assist the cause of the Democratic party in the nation.

In urging the election of a Democratic legislature, senate and national Governor Wilson said:

"I cannot as governor or president do anything unless great bodies of freemen assist me to. If you cannot vote for these men do not vote for me. I am not a candidate to set up in lonely dignity to suffer the intolerable disappointment of being left alone, unable to do the great things which the American people will expect of me, if they honor me with their suffrage. If you cannot back me up, do not put me up all by myself and then desert me. If you believe in me make it possible for me to do something."

"No man in a great commonwealth or in a great nation can do anything by himself, except talk. Talking is not business unless it emanates that men are going to be drawn together by the public discussion of great questions into a common co-operative, irresistible force."

DEDICATE NEW TEMPLE.
Chicago, Oct. 30.—The new Medinah Temple was dedicated here tonight by Theodore of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. More than 9,000 Masons headed by Imperial Potentate William J. Cunningham of Baltimore, took part in the ceremonies which were elaborate. The building which cost $650,000, is the finest of its class in the world. It has a seating capacity of 6,000. The stage can accommodate another thousand persons.

CHRISTIANITY OR ATHEISM, WHICH?

Rev. Charles L. Storrs, Jr., Tells of China's Needs.

The Answer from the south to the question, The New China—Christianity or Atheism, Which? is given by Rev. Charles L. Storrs, Jr., of Shao-wu. Mr. Storrs is a graduate of the Boston Latin school, Amherst college, '96, and Yale divinity school, '01. He went to his field in China in 1904, soon after the Boxer period, and is now in this country on his first furlough. His station is at Shao-wu, in the hill country northwest from Poochow and in the interior of the province.

Speaking on the 1906th year of the Huang dynasty and what it means to the Religions of China, Mr. Storrs said, as reported in the Portland, Me., Evening Express:

"The Chinaman is a religious triangle," some one has remarked. If we disregard the ten or more millions of Mohammedan Chinese, who form one of the most appreciable and responsive elements of China's population for the Christian missionary, the epigram is true. The typical Chinese finds no more difficulty in being a Taoist and a Buddhist and a Confucian at one and the same time than you have in being a Republican, shall we say—a corporal member of the board, and a member of your board of trade, or a Mason, at one and the same time.

Taoism seems in the eyes of a missionary or of any western scholar wholly bad. Yet even it is witness to the fact as Carlyle put it, that "man is incorrigibly religious." The new day means the more thorough cleansing of China's religious life from a mass of superstition, jugglery, geomancy, lucky days, and all the rest that goes into that slough of superstition. One cannot imagine any official of the new regime publicly bowing down and worshipping a snake in time of drought, as Li Hung Chang, the highest exemplar of the old regime, is known to have done. The movement in many provinces to exclude from the suffrage all leaders and catechisms of religious orders is a determination to have done with religion as such as to sweep out to sea all these evil traditions. This of course would militate seriously against the growing Christian church; and in my own province, Fukien, where nearly a third of the new officials and representatives are Christian men, the proposal is being stoutly resisted, as contravening the pledge of absolute religious liberty. But Taoism as such is really in the dust and ready to be cast out.

Road Will Soon Be Grass-grown.

I do not expect on my return to Shao-wu to be met almost any night. I may step out of the compound, as I have constantly these past seven years, by a weird little band, who with candles and fire crackers, food offerings, tom-toms, burnt paper offerings and strange incantations, are endeavoring to woo back some lost spirit not yet called into the nether world, but disengaged and wandered away from the sick body of some unhappy sufferer. Not many years hence the paths will be grass-grown and forgotten that lead up to the mountain home of the Taoist pope, four days west of us, where he keeps in his court yard rows and rows of large earthen jars with their bottled up evil spirits.

This crumbling and decay of Taoism means a deeper challenge to the Christian church to stand ready to meet Chinese human nature at those great crises of soul need, sickness, death, supreme choices.

Buddhism was shown at the start, as Christianity was before the revolution, as the foreigner's religion. It is responsible for the graceful curved roof and the picturesque pagoda of the Chinese landscape. With all the dark, unwholesome things for which it is also responsible, the indolent, vicious monks, the pantheon of idols, the merit jars and fumbled rosaries of the old women, if think we can be thankful to it for two services, the recognition of man's sin and his hunger for immortality. True, the spiritual treasures have been deposited in a bank that paid no dividends, but the deposit is there and we can be grateful for it and build with it.

Temple Property Transformed.

The Buddhist temples in the revolution were often used for barracks and stables; the idols were sometimes ignominiously cast out, as in Canton, by the hundreds. Now a great many temple properties are being converted into schools and their revenues diverted into educational and civic channels. But let us not forget that in the Chinese heart are these great spiritual resources which Buddhism has helped to keep alive. Whether there be any streams of religious influence in a Chinaman traceable to Taoism or Buddhism, or not, every last one of them is a Confucian.

I wish to get deeper than these merely external practices of China's changing, religious life, however suggestive they may seem. Confucianism as whole explains China and the Chinese. It is witness to their ability to make good. From a human standpoint we have here the explanation of her age long history and wonderful civilization. You can just as well suppose that you understand western civilization without an adequate knowledge of Christian history and Christian faith and sympathy with them as you can think that you know China without knowing something about Confucianism and genuine sympathy with it.

The Chinese have come very much nearer to making good with what they have had than we have with our nearly 2,000 years of Christian ideals and faith. The sweep of the anti-opium reform shows the reserves of tremendous moral earnestness in the Chinese people.

Opium Being Discarded.

If the same rate of progress is made for another five years that has marked the past six, there will be more opium consumed here in America than in China at the end of that period. The indictment of the deposed Ta Tsing dynasty, primarily for its 267 years of moral failure, is witness to the same element in Chinese character. Many of the leaders in the revolution and in the reconstruction regard the epoch upon which they are entered as merely temporary to enable them to grasp those instruments by which western peoples have made themselves masters, militarism, political science, physical science and modern industry. Having acquired these and made herself secure, China will return to her throne among the nations of the world and order her life and direct her administration according to the old supreme moral standards.

The history and civilization of the Chinese, their modern achievements and temper are all witness to their ability to make good their moral and spiritual ideals. We can give China those other things, the outer garments of civilization, without the supremely needful things, the living Christ, and China will become a modern nation with a rapidity and solidity that will startle the world; but to what end—only to face problems within herself and in the international world more troublesome, more menacing to the world's peace than that concerns her to day. Give her these things, the Christ who alone can save China, and make the nation what God intends her to be, and with that same marvelous faculty for making good, the sons of Han will achieve a Christian civilization, speedily and concretely, a republic of souls, a kingdom of heaven not merely hereafter, but here and now.

Geo. T. Craddock, Ruble, Ark., says: "I was bothered with lumbago for seven years so bad I could not work. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine which gave me little or no relief. Two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills cured me and now I can do any kind of work. I cheerfully recommend them to my friends." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

SOME PARCEL POST RULES ARE OUTLINED

Postmaster Reeve Receives Notice
From Department About Law Soon
To Become Effective—Special Stamps Must Be Used.

The attention of Postmaster Reeve together with other postmasters has been called to certain provisions of the parcels post law, which will go into effect next January. In the notice sent Postmaster General Hitchcock calls particular attention to the fact that in sending packages that special stamps must be used and that other stamps will not do at all. The notice is as follows:

"Shortly before January 1, 1913, each postmaster will be furnished with one or more copies of the official parcel post map of the United States, showing the unit of area in which his post office is located and the eight postal zones indicating the distance on which the parcel post rates of postage are based. These maps will be securely enclosed in a mailing tube, and sufficient copies will be sent so that at least one map will be immediately available to each post office, branch post office and lettered and local named station."

"At the same time there will be furnished to each postmaster a supply of copies of the Official Parcel Post Guide, a publication that will show the unit of area in which every post office in the United States is located. The Guide will contain full information as to its use in conjunction with the map, and will also contain the regulations approved by the postmaster general for the conduct of the parcel post service."

"Copies of the Parcel Post Map and Guide will be forwarded through postmasters to each rural carrier. These supplies will be inclosed together in a substantial linen envelope, which should be retained by the carriers as a permanent receptacle."

"On account of the increase in the weight limit from four to eleven ounces, it will be necessary to supply postmasters with scales of adequate capacity. It is expected that every presidential post office and the majority of the offices of the fourth class will be properly equipped in this respect by January 1, 1913. Offices of the fourth class that do not receive suitable scales by that date will be supplied as promptly as possible thereafter, and in the meantime postmasters will be expected to meet the emergency with their present weighing facilities or by such other means as they may be able to devise without expense to the department."

"Tape lines, six feet in length, for measuring the size of parcel post packages will be furnished to all postmasters. Distinctive parcel post stamps will be issued to each postmaster. On and after January 1, 1913, ordinary postage stamps will not be valid for postage on fourth class matter."

The widest publicity should be given to the following features of the proposed parcel post regulations:

1. That distinctive parcel post stamps must be used on all fourth class matter beginning January 1, 1913, and that such matter bearing ordinary postage stamps will be treated as "held for postage."
2. That parcels will be mailable only at post offices, branch post offices, lettered and local named stations and such numbered stations as may be designated by the postmaster.
3. That all parcels must bear the return card of the sender; otherwise they will not be accepted for mailing."

TELLS OF PANAMA CANAL CONDITIONS

Frederick Stuart Gives Interesting Facts Based on Over Two Years Residence There—Great Project is Nearing Completion

As already announced in the Journal, E. T. Sweringen and family are enjoying a visit from Mr. Fred Stuart and daughters, the latter of St. Louis and the former recently returned from Panama where for twenty-six months he has been working on the great enterprise which is to connect the two oceans and make a new highway of commerce for the civilized world.

Mr. Stuart was introduced to the Journal representative by Mr. Sweringen Wednesday and proved to be a peculiarly intelligent, pleasant and entertaining person and with good grace he submitted to an interview and told a great many interesting things about this wonderful project which is the wonder of the world and a stupendous triumph of engineering, financing, sanitation under the most unfavorable circumstances, and administrative ability rarely equaled in the world.

A few of the interesting things Mr. Stuart told are given and cannot fail to be of interest to the readers of the Journal.

Dimensions and Features.

The canal is fifty miles long in all. When the project was undertaken by the French the intention was to construct a sea level canal but, as is well known, the project was abandoned after millions had been spent, much of it unwisely. DeLesseps was fresh from his triumph of the Suez canal, but that was through sand and was a mere child's toy compared with the work in this instance. President Roosevelt called a commission of seven foreign engineers and five from this country to go down and look over the ground and report on the most desirable route and kind of canal to construct. The eminent men went down and looked over the ground and on their return the foreigners voted solid for a sea level water way and the home men equally unanimously for the lock system and congress most wisely chose the advice of the United States engineers and one is almost tempted to think that the foreigners depicted as they did to get the country into trouble though that is a rather harsh insinuation. The high tides, especially on the Pacific side, the fearful floods of the Chagres river and other arguments seem unanswerable against the sea level project.

Beginning on the Atlantic side the canal is dredged from the shore for seven miles with a channel 500 feet wide and 45 feet deep at low tide. Then come the locks which raise the vessels 85 feet to the Gatun lake which is formed by damming the Chagres river making a body of water 165 square miles in area. From this point to the locks on the other side is a distance of 25 miles and passes through the great excavation which is being made the Culebra cut. It is ten miles long and the deepest cut is 534 feet at Gold hill, and the next is 480 feet deep and on down to lesser depths. The material to be removed is a peculiar formation, partly volcanic containing many fossils and hard to excavate but the immense force of dynamite and the powerful dredges do the work. The engineering feat of providing suitable railroad facilities for removing the great mass, keeping all in shape, the water drained and other things has been wonderful. Going over the 25 miles the vessels will come to the Merafros locks which will lower them thirty feet after which they will pass a mile and a half to the Pedro Miguel locks which will let them down 55 feet to the level of the Pacific ocean when the rest of the way will be dredged as on the Atlantic side and same dimensions. The tides of the Pacific ocean, from 18 to 26 feet must be taken into consideration and they will be formidable but every precaution has been taken all the way along with all work done all construction and it would seem as if the work possessed little to criticize or fear.

The Early Completion.

Mr. Stuart says the canal will be open for working vessels within a year and for commercial purposes a year later which is far sooner than at first anticipated.

The Men Employed.

There are 36,000 men employed and among so great a number the government is not likely to be imposed upon by unscrupulous workmen asking for pay when nothing is due for it takes great precaution. Over the whole is Col. Goethals, one of the wonderful men of his age. Several others had the position before him but resigned, generally to receive higher salaries in other directions. It should be borne in mind that the work of Col. Goethals is largely one of love and patriotism for undoubtedly he could at any time get a position with some great corporation at a greater salary than the government pays him. It was this that took away Shonts, now getting twice the salary the government paid him and Col. Goethals and from Taft he received a scoring and a suggestion that men didn't engage in such work wholly from motives of financial remuneration.

Mr. Stuart says Col. Goethals is a very plain man, often looking like a tramp as he goes about the great works inspecting one department after another but he has the whole enterprise in his grasp and every detail is known to him through trusted lieutenants. He is always approachable and kindly familiar with his men while not letting down his dignity. Every Sunday he holds a court and hears all complaints, grievances and suggestions and every man employed, down to the most humble, knows he will have a square deal.

Social Gatherings.

Sometimes the men have gatherings social and otherwise and invite the colonel to meet with them and he endeavors to comply, always saying that when a man works with a good will and is happy and contented feeling he is being well treated he is worth much more to his employer and so he ever preaches the gospel of good cheer. He is a marvelous man, wonderful in his ability as an administrator and manager of a great undertaking, in his control and management of men and his financial ability. The worst enemy of the enterprise or the administration has had no opportunity to speak truly of graft for none exists and all accounts and transactions are open to the light of day.

The laborers are all imported for the natives of Panama are gentlemen of elegant leisure and will not work as they would have to work if employed on the canal. They get much of their living from natural products of roots and fruits, raise a few chickens and a little garden and thus supply the small necessities of a tropical country. The laborers are West India negroes, Greeks, Italians and Spaniards and are called the silver roll. The blacks get 13 cents an hour and the Europeans 20 cents an hour. This may seem small but when compared with what they would make at home it is princely compensation. The negroes come from Martinique, Jamaica, Barbadoes and elsewhere. The laborers live in bamboo huts well erected and are comfortable. They subsist to a great extent on natural growths, work eight hours a day and are well cared for. Mr. Stuart came in the gold roll. He was employed as a moulder and men of his class received 65 cents an hour and eight hours a day or $5.20 for a day's work. The government furnishes transportation to and from New York to all who work at least 500 days and at Panama comfortable lodgings in frame houses with rooms 12 feet square, two single beds and two men to a room. The men furnish bedclothes and eating. They may buy meals of the government for 30 cents each as many as they choose each day and there is a commissary of whom they may buy a lunch if they don't want a full meal. All are examined by a surgeon before starting down for the government wants no invalids on its hands.

Wages Paid Employees.

Unqualified engineers, men who can run an engine but do not understand how to repair or build one, get $125 a month and qualified engineers get $210 a month. The national legal holidays men may use just the same. Mr. Stuart said last Fourth of July he had a ticket calling for transportation anywhere he could go and meal ticket free. If a man dies his body is shipped free of charge to his friends. If an employee wants to go to the states before his two years he gets a trip for $30 while the regular fare is $75. The superintendents of divisions and the head men of course get higher salaries but there are not many of them. Overtime either after hours, Sundays or holidays calls for pay and a half.

Mr. Stuart says it is impossible to fool Col. Goethals. If a man goes to him with a complaint which the manager thinks unfounded he quietly remarks to the complainer: "If you are dissatisfied here a boat leaves for the states every five days." Plain clothes detectives are about all the time and evil doers have little opportunity to ply their trade. Each town has a quartermaster who looks after everything about the place and sees that all get their dues. The result of all this is the fact that the great body of men are cheerful and happy in their work. They feel they are well treated and most of them dread the time when they will be called on to disembark and return home. At the end of two years' service each man receives a medal which will always be prized.

Careful records are kept of all men and all dealings. Col. Goethals has with him two captains and two stenographers and at the court and elsewhere all is carefully recorded.

Good Sanitary Conditions.

It has often been said that the Panama railroad cost the life of a man for each tie laid on the road bed, but Mr. Stuart says it is as healthy in the canal zone which is ten miles wide, as in any part of the country. Col. Gorgas, an experienced army surgeon, is in charge of this department and he preaches all the time war on flies and mosquitoes claiming they carry all kinds of diseases. Within the canal zone there is careful drainage, ash cans filled with crude oil drip their contents on the surfaces of streams, all bodies of the water have oil poured on their surface and a man is fined if he permits any article or vessel to accumulate water on his premises. Guards patrol the zone and destroy any vessel which may collect water while the buildings which the men occupy are screened there is no great need of it.

The Weather.

The weather down there is bad. It rains about nine months each year and the air is damp and debilitating and while the mercury ranges from 70 to 95 it feels much warmer owing to the humidity so that the general good health that prevails speaks volumes for the sanitary management. Mr. Stuart was loud in his praises of Col. Goethals and the members of the canal commission for the excellent manner in which everything is conducted and for the way in which the evils of the climate are overcome.

Our Own Enterprise.

Mr. Stuart says the canal was first conceived as a war measure. When they had to bring the Oregon around the Horn it gave the administration reason to pause and consider the condition of things should it be necessary to transport an army and send a part of the navy from one coast to another. He thinks the United States coasting vessels should have free passage through the canal as it is built with our money and belongs to no other nation.

Has Kindest Feelings.

Though Mr. Stuart resigned his position and hardly thinks he will go back, he retains the kindest feelings toward all the officials with whom he came in contact. His forehead wanted him to stay or return after a vacation, but he thinks he will hardly do so but engage in his trade in this country. He is a pleasant affable gentleman and deserves the good fortune which will no doubt be his.

ECZEMA ALL OVER BODY.

Extract from letter of a prominent citizen in Maine who suffered torment with eczema all over his body. "I tried everything, consulted physicians, specialists, and was about discouraged until I began using HOKARA. My doctor said it would be phenomenal if HOKARA cured me. A few applications quickly relieved, and in a short time HOKARA worked a wonderful cure of my trouble." (Name on request).

If you have any skin trouble, why not get a jar of HOKARA today and see how quickly it effects a cure? Guaranteed by Armstrong's Drug Store, local agents.

Liberal jar 25c, larger sizes 50c and $1.00.

REACHING THE SPOT.

It Has Been Done, so Scores of Jacksonville Citizens Say.

To get rid of an aching back, The sharp twinges, The tired-out feelings, You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In many cases 'tis the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Jacksonville citizens testify. W. C. Osborn, 455 S. Clay St., Jacksonville, Ill., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cured me of kidney trouble which I used them in 1909. About two years I suffered from rheumatic pains in my back. I was lame and my kidneys did not do their work as they should. I heard other people speak highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and decided to try them. I got a supply at Armstrong's Drug Store. In several weeks they cured me. I have had no further trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

F. Franks Cigar Co.

A. F. Franks, L. F. Randall, Directors.

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 23, 1912.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS—

—THE BETTER LOOKING— TRY OLIVE TABLETS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

These Olive Tablets—oil, the bowels—yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.

If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, Ohio.

AN IMPORTANT ENTERPRISE.

Much interest is being manifested in the great road proposed across the country from east to west and it is fitting that this city and county should be on the map of that great highway. It will be necessary for the people of this region to bestir themselves for such things do not seek people out but are to an extent moved by the asking and strenuous asking at that.

Of course certain cities will be on the route in any event but other localities will not be visited unless the citizens of that vicinity make a determined effort. Our county has many automobiles and owners who are interested in a good road and the great rank and file who yet have to travel across the country in the more slowly going horse vehicle would also like to see good highways and it behooves all places to get together and work for the route through Jacksonville and a good part of Morgan county.

RAILROAD OPERATORS ON STRIKE.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Telegraphers employed on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad systems are taking a strike vote, after having demanded a wage increase of 10 per cent, which was refused.

The demands of the telegraphers were submitted several weeks ago and on October 17 Vice President Byram, of the company, notified the officials of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers that no increase would be granted at this time. Ballots were at once sent out to the men on the system, and the general chairman of the telegraphers, C. L. Lamb, opened headquarters in the Lexington hotel, Tuesday, where the vote will be tabulated as it is received.

WOODROW WILSON ASKS BRITISH AID

Letter to Old Country Firms Points to Value of Free Trade—Suggests That English Merchants Help Finance U. S. Democratic Campaign

London.—The Woodrow Wilson campaign is not confined to the United States. British manufacturers are being flooded with appeals for assistance. A letter from the National Wilson and Marshall League, of which William C. McAdoo is president, has been sent to all big manufacturers in Great Britain and in the letter is the statement that a complete record will be kept of those who help to make the great Democratic victory certain.

The appeal for funds has been sent broadcast to big houses in industrial England, conveying, of course, the impression that should Woodrow Wilson win, practical free trade would come, and British manufacturers would get a new foothold in the United States.

Their circular to British manufacturers has at the head of it the names of William McAdoo, Charles R. Crane and Stuart S. Gibbons.

Crane is the Chicago millionaire who subscribed $70,000 to Wilson's pre-convention fund. Gibbons signed his name as secretary on the circular.

EXCITING RUNAWAY.

Horses Hitched to a Bread Wagon Make Long Run.

A team hitched to a Jacksonville Bakery company wagon made a lively runaway Wednesday morning about 10:30 o'clock. While the driver was out of the wagon delivering some bread at the corner of North and Church streets, the animals became frightened and made a fast get-away, going down North street until the C. P. & St. L. tracks were reached. The bed of the wagon was left on the car tracks and after a further run the horses freed themselves from the running gears and with only the neck yoke were making their way back to the Ogilvie livery barn, when they were stopped. A C. P. & St. L. train struck the wagon bed and skidded it some forty feet and shoved it off the track. The runaway caused no little excitement along the route and it was fortunate that no one was injured.

POINT.

Rev. E. B. Horvick is conducting a series of special meetings at Wesley chapel. Services will be held each evening of this week, except Saturday evening. Every one especially invited.

John Cleary, Sr., recently suffered a paralytic stroke while visiting his daughter, Mrs. Margaret O'Day, of Carthage, Mo. Mrs. Cleary was with him when he was taken ill and S. P. Cleary and John Cleary, Jr., were called to his bedside last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hanson spent Sunday with relatives in Concord.

The venerable John Reese is very ill, his advanced age making his recovery doubtful.

C. W. Watson, of Woodson, was a Sunday guest of E. S. Vesey and family.

Miss Grace Middleton returned last Saturday from a visit of several days in Chicago and Pontiac.

A. E. Richardson was among the excursionists to Chicago last Friday.

Miss Lena Jordan and Miss Lois Richardson returned to their homes near Stratford, Kan., last Saturday, after a pleasant visit of several weeks in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Stout visited with relatives near Hannibal, Mo., last week.

California Woman Seriously Alarmed.

"A short time ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and caused me a great deal of annoyance. I would have had coughing spells and my lungs were so sore and inflamed I began to be seriously alarmed. A friend recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saying she had used it for years. I bought a bottle and it relieved my cough the first night, and in a week I was rid of the cold and soreness of my lungs," writes Miss Marie Genier, Sawtelle, Cal. For sale by all dealers.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Estate of Elisha H. Becraft, deceased.

The undersigned, having been appointed administratrix of the estate of Elisha H. Becraft, late of the county of Morgan and State of Illinois, hereby gives notice that she will appear before the county clerk of Morgan county at the court house in Jacksonville, at the January term, on the first Monday in January next, at which time all persons having claims against said estate are notified and requested to attend for the purpose of having the same adjusted.

All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment to the undersigned.

Dated this 28th day of October, A. D. 1912.

Emma V. Becraft, Administratrix.

Mr. Jas. V. Churchill, 99 Wall St., Auburn, N. Y., has been bothered with serious kidney and bladder trouble ever since he left the army, and says: "I decided to try Foley Kidney Pills as they had cured so many people and I soon found they were just the thing. My kidneys and bladder are again in healthy condition. I gladly recommend them." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

The author of this article is D. O. Thompson, cattle specialist at the Indiana Experiment Station. His facts were obtained direct from big cattle feeders who turn out record-priced beef and from a careful, exhaustive study of the beef market at Chicago.

Five Other Big Features in This Issue Are:

Our Hundred-Million-Dollar Fire Waste, by Harry Snowden Stabler, the insurance and financial expert. The first of a series of five practical articles which tell of the tremendous fire losses throughout the country districts of the nation, explaining the causes, showing how fires can be prevented and giving advice as to the best kind of insurance.

Colliers in Their Kindergarten, by Charles Askins, of Oklahoma, an experienced trainer of sheep dogs. In two articles, Mr. Askins, who has had years of experience and who has been notably successful, tells how collic dogs can be trained into good sheep dogs.

More Loaves for the Multitude, by B. E. Powell, of the Illinois Experiment Station. A plan showing how the wheat crop may be increased so as to add millions of loaves to the world's bread-basket by breeding grains that are more vigorous and more productive.

Post Mortem on Thirty Thousand Horses, by Charles Dillon, of the Kansas Agricultural College. An account of the mysterious horse disease that became epidemic throughout Kansas during August and September and killed approximately 30,000 horses, entailing a loss of about $3,000,000 in Kansas and the adjoining states.

The Return to Eden, by Caspar Day. A good love story. You will enjoy reading it Sunday.

And in addition, the valuable regular weekly departments, written by the foremost authorities in the country, dealing with these vital subjects: The Farm Business Forecast—a look ahead at business conditions; The Signboards of Science—significant facts about new and practical methods from progressive communities; The Political Situation, a Talk to Rural Voters—a clear and concise summary of State legislation affecting farmers and their interests; The Country Gentleman—interesting and helpful suggestions for improving the home life of the farm and lightening the wife's burden.

LOST DOG RETURNS.

Thomas Duffer has found his lost collie dog. A year ago the dog mysteriously disappeared and from that time nothing has been heard of the much prized animal.

Yesterday Mrs. Duffer heard a scratch at the door and going there found the dog waiting to be admitted. He remembered his lounging places about the premises and appeared to be a happy canine. He evidently had not been treated well as he had lost considerable flesh and showed signs of being poorly treated.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the harbinger of baldness, caused by parasites destroying the vitality of the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Neogen's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundance.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

A FLOURISHING WIDE AWAKE SCHOOL

A Pleasant Call at the Temple of Learning Known as Mauvaisterre District 33.

"Come and visit our school," has been an invitation several times from persons interested in Mauvaisterre school, six miles east of the city, and Monday the writer had the pleasure of complying with the invitation and enjoyed it very much.

Mauvaisterre school is in district number 33 and the building is pleasantly situated in a somewhat retired part of the county, yet as centrally located as could be expected. The lot has a number of fine shade trees about it, though it is a pity that when they were about it they didn't get three or four times as much land. Possibly they will get some more yet.

During the past few months the directors have wrought most commendably in improving things about the place and have probably expended all the money at their disposal for the present school year. The building is larger than most country school houses, as there are two grades, requiring two separate rooms, which have been hard to heat and the directors have had a fine hot air furnace put in the cellar or basement which they have excavated, concreted the floor and put all in fine shape and made a place too for coal, thus being able to do away with the unsightly shed which is to be removed.

The teachers were well pleased with the work done and said the yard would soon be cleared of the rubbish which had accumulated and things generally smoothed out. The building could stand a coat or two of paint, but it is not suffering. The interior is not in bad shape at all, but one of the teachers thought the directors were going to put on new paper anyhow. Two pictures of eminent men adorn the walls and there is room for several more, which will be added in due time. The floors are good and the furniture all right. Possibly some additions to the library would be well and some modern charts and maps, but all these can be secured later and the writer has only words of commendation for the directors, for if they keep on as they have begun the premises will be second to none.

The visitor talked of some foreign lands and was rewarded with good attention and a tolerable number of questions. In fact, he will find no fault in this direction, for he received quite a number and while more would have been agreeable it was pleasant to get so many.

STATE WILL REST CASE IN ETOR LABOR RIOT HEARING

Defense Will Occupy About Ten Days in Which to Combat Testimony Submitted.

SALEM, MASS., Oct. 30.—The commonwealth announced today in the trial of Joseph Etor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, charged with responsibility for the murder of Anna Lopizzo, during the Lawrence textile strike last winter, that it expected to rest its case tomorrow. The defense expects to require about ten days in which to combat the testimony submitted. The attorneys for the defense will base their case upon a contention that Etor and Giovannitti were in no way responsible for the fighting at Lawrence, which resulted in the killing of the woman; that they counselled against violence and that statements attributed to them urging violent acts were misquotations and faulty transmissions of addresses made in a foreign tongue.

BANKS SHOW RECORD DEPOSITS AND GREATEST NUMBER OF DEPOSITORS

Special Interest Is Attached to Showing Made Because the Deposits Are Chiefly Accumulations of Wage Earners.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Reports to Comptroller of the Currency Murray on the operation of savings banks of the United States show record deposits and the greatest number of depositors in history, according to an announcement made today. On June 14, the date of the compilation, there were 1,925 savings banks holding aggregate deposits of $4,459,822,522 or $90,009,894 depositors, the average deposit account being $444.64. While the number of banks, compared with 1911, increased only 41 in number, the deposits increased by over $238,000,000. The average deposit account increased by $14.55. The per capita savings in the United States, computed from savings bank accounts, was $46.52, the highest on record.

Mr. Murray, who received these reports largely from state superintendents of banks, said that special interest attached to the showing because the deposits are chiefly the accumulations of wage earners.

Mrs. Peter Holan, 11501 Buckeye Road, Cleveland, O., says: "Yes, indeed I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. My little boy had a bad case of whooping cough, some times he was blue in the face. I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and it had a remarkable effect and cured him in a short time." Contains no harmful drugs. City Drug Store, J. A. Oberbeyer.

FINAL SPECIAL TAX NOTICE.

In the matter of the special tax of the city of Jacksonville for the construction of a brick pavement on Franklin street.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested that the board of local improvements of said city has heretofore filed in the county court of Morgan county, Illinois, in said cause a certificate showing the cost of the work, the amount reserved for interest, and also that the improvement has been constructed in substantial conformity to the requirements of the original ordinance therefor.

The hearing to consider and determine whether or not the facts as stated in said certificate are true will be held in said court on the 8th day of November, A. D. 1912, at 9 o'clock or as soon thereafter as the business of the court will permit.

All persons desiring may file objections in said court before said day and may appear on the hearing and make their defense.

FOSTER TESTIFIES TO HOCKIN'S AID

SAYS HOCKIN TOLD HIM HE WAS "NOT GOING TO BE THE ONLY GOAT"

Investigator for the National Erectors Association Testifies at Trial of the Accused "Dynamite Plotters"—Badford Also on Stand.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 30.—An investigator for the National Erectors' association, Robert J. Foster, testified at the trial of the 45 accused "dynamite plotters" today that Herbert Hockin, one of the defendants, made the following statements to him:

"I'm not going to be the only goat. When you take me you'll take the whole bunch. I'll be satisfied if I get off with a few years, but I will not go on the stand. It would be worth my life for me to testify against the others."

Foster testified Hockin so said just before he turned over, as secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, the keys of the union's office so that the government might procure J. J. McNamara's letter files.

Met Hockin Often.
"I met Hockin several times while the grand jury was in session," Foster said. "He promised to procure out of the iron workers' office any letters that had incriminating evidence in them. After he turned the office key over so we might procure the letters at night, I told him I appreciated what he had done and that he wouldn't lose anything by it. At one time in the office he pointed out a bundle of letters and said 'these are some from the California end.' They were signed by Olaf A. Tveitmo of San Francisco.

Said to Have Confessed.
"Another time I advised Hockin to go to District Attorney Miller and make a clean breast of it. He said that he had gone to Miller and done so."

Hockin has a desk in President Frank M. Ryan's room in the union headquarters. He succeeded McNamara as secretary and in Orrie McNamara's confession he is accused of being an instigator of dynamiting plots.

Cross examined by attorneys for the defense, Foster acknowledged he is under indictment charged with assault on President Ryan. The charges were that Foster entered Ryan's office and drew a revolver on him. Foster also admitted having been dishonorably discharged from the army.

J. A. G. Badorf, New York, assistant to Walter Drew, counsel for the erectors association testified to a visit to the home of McNamara's father at Tiffin, Ohio, after McNamara's arrest. Badorf said that the 41 one-pound sticks of dynamite were found in a shed having been hidden there by McNamara and James B. McNamara.

PLEAD GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ACCEPTING B. & O. REBATE

Five Enter Pleas of Guilty in Federal Court—Receive Technical Prison Sentences and Are Fined.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Pleas of guilty of accepting rebates from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad were entered in the Federal court here today by five men on trial before United States Judge Mayer.

Jules E. Bernard, of the forwarding firm of Bernard, Judae and Co., of Chicago, was given a technical sentence of a day's imprisonment and fined $2,000. Oscar F. Kosche, August Bonteaux and Maurice Ascher, also were sentenced to a day in jail, and in addition, Kosche was fined $3,000 and Bonteaux and Ascher $1,000 each.

The "imprisonment" of the men amounted to less than two hours, as the day was nearly over when their pleas of guilty were made.

Sentence was suspended in the case of Albert E. Grazer, the fifth defendant.

"SEE THAT BALD HEADED YOUNG MAN"

"I know he is only 39," said one young lady to another at a social function, "but he looks like 50."

"Better say he looks like 60," replied the other.

Young men who use PARISIAN SAGE never grow bald because the hair root is supplied with plenty of nature's own nourishment, which means at all times an abundance of healthy hair.

Young man, if your hair is thinning out; if that little bald spot on top is beginning to spread; try PARISIAN SAGE. It is guaranteed by Coover & Shreve to stop falling hair, banish dandruff and scalp itch, or money back. 50 cents at dealers everywhere.

Mrs. T. A. Towne, 107 1/2 street, Watertown, S. D., writes: "My four children are subject to hard colds and I always use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound with splendid results. Some time ago I had a severe attack of influenza and the doctor prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it soon overcame the la grippe. I can always depend upon Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and am sure of good results." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

SICK DAUGHTER NOW WELL

Mrs. C. Cole Tells How Her Daughter Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio. — "I take great pleasure in writing to thank you for what your medicine has done for my daughter.

"Before taking your medicine she was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, could not walk but a short distance at a time, and had severe pains in head and limbs. She came very near having nervous prostration. She had begun to cough a good deal and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help.

"I cannot find words to express my gratefulness for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound has done for my daughter. She feels and looks like another girl since taking it, and I shall always feel that I owe you a great debt.

"You can use this letter for the benefit of others if you wish, as I shall always recommend your medicines for female troubles."—Mrs. C. COLE, Fitchville, Ohio.

Hundreds of such letters from mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound has accomplished have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Young Girls, Read This Advice.
Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MAY BECOME A TEN CLUB LEAGUE.

Want Waterloo and Cedar Rapids in Central Association. The latest proposition made to bring about the desired strengthening of the Central association comes from Manager Bert Hough, of the Monmouth team. He advises that this league be made a ten-club circuit, so as to take in Waterloo and Cedar Rapids. There appears to be a strong desire to have the two cities in the circuit. It is felt that it will increase the attendance of every city by at least 10,000 paid admissions. The thought has been that Calesburg and Hannibal may be willing to sell their franchises to Waterloo and Cedar Rapids. Some suggestion to this effect has been made to these cities, but so far nothing has developed, and in each of the cities in question there are enthusiastic fans who insist that the cities are to remain in the circuit. The solution suggested by Manager Hough, therefore, is the next best thing. A ten-city circuit is not popular, but the opinion is that in one year, in order to strengthen this league, this circuit can stand the expansion. For two years now certain weak cities have only been held in the league by the fact that if they withdrew they might disrupt the circuit. With ten clubs two withdrawals during the season would only put the league into the regular eight-team size and much stronger for the change.

It is hinted that a meeting of the league directors will be held about the middle of November for the purpose of considering this proposition. "sajiem puijodnu ajou pur Mrs. Paul Wehling, 316 Smith St., Peoria, Ill., had kidney and bladder trouble, with terrible backache and pain across the hips. "Ist imagine her condition. She further says: "I was also very nervous, had headaches and dizzy spells and was fast getting worse when I took Foley Kidney Pills and now all my troubles are cured. Foley Kidney Pills have done so much for me I shall always recommend them." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

ALWAYS CONQUERS RHEUMATISM

Thousands of persons have been rescued from the tortures of Rheumatism and restored to perfect health by the use of S. S. S. So uniform are the good results from its use that we do not hesitate to say S. S. S. always conquers Rheumatism if given a fair trial. You can never cure this deep-seated disease with external treatment, such as liniments, plasters, blisters, etc. These may furnish temporary relief but they do not reach the blood where the real cause is located. Rheumatism is rooted and grounded in the blood and must be driven from its stronghold there before permanent relief can be had. S. S. S. conquers Rheumatism by driving from the circulation the excess accumulation of uric acid which is responsible for the disease. S. S. S. strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour fluid, causing pain and agony throughout the system, it becomes a nourishing stream furnishing health to every portion of the body and relieving every symptom of Rheumatism. If you do not conquer Rheumatism it will conquer you. S. S. S. is the one remedy you can depend upon for good effects. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice free. ## GENERAL MARKET NEWS

MORE COURAGE DEVELOPS IN WHEAT

Decided Pressure to Sell Right From Start—Offerings Came From Both
Holders and Would-be Shorts.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Oct. 30.—More courage developed today on the selling side of the wheat than had been witnessed in some time. An understanding between Russia and Austria relative to the Turkish war gave the bears an advantage that was increased by a big gain in the world's available supply. Accordingly the market though steady at the close, finished 3/4c to 1 1/4c under last night. Latest trading left corn 3/4 to 1c down, oats off shade to 3/4 up and provisions varying from 25c decline to a like advance.

Only brief rallies took place in wheat. Right from the start there was decided pressure to sell. Offerings came both from holders and would-be shorts. In addition, hedg-ing set in from the southwest and discounts were increasing on cargoes from Duluth. December ranged between 90 1/2c to 91c; with last sales 1 1/2c net lower at 91 1/2c.
October corn sold at the lowest price of the season and at nearly the lowest for other options. Increasing new receipts furnished the main reason. Moreover the weather was fine and shipping demand small. October scored a net decline of 1c but without much business. December fluctuated between 31 1/2c and 32c, closing easy 5/8c down at 31 3/4c.

Oats took color from other grain and ranked a little lower. High and low points for December were 32c and 32c with the close a shade off at 32 1/2c.

Investment buying put provisions on the upgrade. A helping hand came also from the packers. Except for a backset in October pork, the market closed 7 1/2 to 25c above last night.

No. 3 mixed, 31c.

NEW YORK STOCKS.
New York, Oct. 30.—The shadow of war hung over the financial horizon again today. All foreign markets were unsettled after an early period of optimism due to reports that two of the leading European powers had arrived at an amicable understanding regarding the conflict in the Balkans.

London's early tone was one of cheerfulness on buying orders from the continent and absence of further liquidation in Canadian Pacific. That stock rose over four points abroad and almost the entire American group closed strong.

As a result of this apparent improvement our market opened with a general rise, Canadian Pacific gaining over three points, with one point gain in Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Reading, Lehigh Valley, United States steel, amalgamated copper,
Anaconda and American smelting.
Before the end of the first hour persistent selling had wiped out much of the advance and at midday when the selling became more extensive and wider in scope, it was utterly effaced with some issues selling under yesterday's low.

By that time news from Europe had again assumed an alarming tone and there were signs that the foreign markets were once more under a severe strain. Short selling, especially in steel and presumably based on yesterday's financial statement, was a factor of the declining movement, which was checked in the final hour.
More or less complete recoveries were then recorded, regardless of a rise of six per cent in call loans, the rally continuing to the firm but dull close and with numerous net gains.

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS IN NEW YORK

fish greed of the haves is set over against the selfish greed of the have-nots. There is but one way to prevent such a division, and that is to forestall it by the kind of a movement in which we are now engaged.

"Our movement is one of resolute insistence upon the rights and full acknowledgment of the duties of every man and every woman within this great land of ours. We war against the forces of evil, and the weapons we use are the weapons of right. We do not set greed against greed, or hatred against hatred. Our creed is one that bids us be just to all, to feel sympathy for all and to strive for an understanding of the needs of all. Our purpose is to smite down wrong. But toward those who have done wrong we feel only the kindest charity that is compatible with causing the wrong to cease. We preach hatred to no man, and the spirit in which we work is as far removed from vindictiveness as from weakness. We are resolute to do away with the evil, and we intend to proceed with such wise and cautious sanity as will cause the very minimum of disturbance that is compatible with achieving our purpose.

Buttress Character By Law.

Do not forget, friends, that we are not proposing to substitute law for character. We are merely proposing to buttress character by law. We fully recognize that, as has been true in the past, so it is true now, and ever will be true, that the prime factor in each man or woman's success must normally be that man or woman's own character—character, the sum of many qualities, but above all of the qualities of honesty, of courage and of common sense. Nothing will avail a nation if there is not the right type of character among the average men and women, the plain people, the hard working, decent living, right thinking people who make up the great bulk of our citizenship. I know my countrymen; I know that they are this type. But it is in civil life as it is in war that the man behind the gun that counts most, and yet he cannot do his work unless he has the right kind of gun. In civil life, in the every day life of our nation, it is individual character which counts most; and yet the individual character cannot avail, unless in addition thereto there lie ready to hand the social weapon which can be forged only by law and by public opinion operating through and operated upon by law.

Proposes No New Principles.

Again, friends, do not forget that we are proposing no new principles. The doctrines we preach reach back to the Golden Rule and the Sermon on the Mount. They reach back to the Commandments delivered at Sinai. All that we are doing is to apply those doctrines in the shape necessary to make them available for meeting the living issues of our own day. We decline to be bound by the empty little cut and dried formulas of bygone philosophies, useful once perhaps, but useless now. Our purpose is to shackle greedy cunning as we shackle brutal force, and we are not to be diverted from this purpose by the appeal to the dead dogmas of a vanished past. We propose to lift the burden from the lowly and the weary, from the poor and the oppressed. We propose to stand for the sacred rights of childhood and womanhood. Nay, more, we propose to see that manhood is not crushed out of the men who toil, by excessive hours of labor, by under payment, by injustice and oppression. When this purpose can only be secured by the collective action of our people through their governmental agencies, we propose so to secure it. We brush aside the arguments of those who seek to bar action by the reputation of some formula about "states' rights," or about "the history of liberty," being the history of the limitation of governmental power or about the duty of the courts finally to determine the meaning of the constitution. We are for human rights, and we intend to work for them in efficient fashion. Where they can be best obtained by the application of the doctrines of states' rights then we are for states' rights. Where we are to obtain them, it is necessary to invoke the power of the nation, then we shall invoke to its uttermost limits that mighty power. We are for liberty. We are for the liberty of the oppressed and not for the liberty of the oppressor who oppresses the weak and bind burdens on the shoulders of the heavy laden. It is idle to ask us not to exercise the power of the government when only by the power of the government can we curb the greed that sits in high places, when only by the exercise of the government can we exalt the lowly and give heart to the humble and the down trodden.

Care Only for Facts.

"We care for facts and not for formulas. We care for deeds and not for words. We recognize no sacred right of oppression. We recognize no divine right to work injustice. We stand for the constitution. We recognize that one of its most useful functions is the protection of property. But we will not consent to make the constitution a fetish for the protection of fossilized wrong. We call the attention of those who interpret it to the fact that in that great instrument of justice life and liberty are put on a full level with property, indeed are enumerated above it in the order of their importance. We stand for an upright judiciary, but where the judges claim the right to make our laws by finally interpreting them, then we claim the right ourselves to exercise that power. We forbid any man, no matter what their official position to be, to usurp the right which is ours, the right which is the people's. We recognize in neither court nor congress nor president any divine right to override the will of the people expressed with due deliberation in orderly fashion and through the forms of law. Progressives hold that the words of the Declaration of Independence, as given effect by Washington, and as construed and applied by Abraham Lincoln are to be accepted as real and not as empty phrases. We believe that in very truth this is a government by the people themselves, that the constitution is theirs, that the courts are theirs, that all the government agents and agencies are theirs. We believe that all true leaders of the people must fearlessly stand for righteousness and honesty, most fearlessly tell the people what justice and honor demand. But we no less strongly insist that it is for the people themselves finally to decide all questions of public policy and to have their decision made effective.

Can Keep Promises.

"In the platform formulated by the Progressive party we have set forth clearly and specifically our faith in every vital point at issue before this people. We have declared our position on the trusts and on the tariff, on the machinery of securing genuine popular government, on the method of meeting the needs of the farmer, of the business man, and of the man who toils with his hands, in the mine or on the railroad, in the factory or in the shop. There is not a promise we have made which cannot be kept. Our platform is a covenant with the people of the United States, and if we are given the power we will live up to that covenant in letter and in spirit.

"We know that there are in life injustices which we are powerless to remedy. But we know also that there is much injustice which can be remedied, and this injustice we intend to remedy. We know that the long path leading upward toward the light cannot be traversed at once, or in a day, or in a year. But there are certain steps that can be taken now at once. These we intend to take. Then, having taken these first steps, we shall see more clearly how to walk still further with a bolder stride. We do not attempt the impossible. But there is much, very much, that is possible in the way of fighting wrong and remedying injustices; and all that is possible we intend to do. We intend to strike down privilege, to equalize opportunity, to wrest justice from the hands that do injustice, to hear and strengthen men and women for the hard battle of life. We stand shoulder to shoulder in a spirit of real brotherhood. We recognize no differences of class, creed or birthplace. We recognize no sectionalism. Our appeal is made to the easterner no less than to the westerner. Our appeal is made to the southerner no less than to the northerner. We appeal to the men who wore the gray just as we appeal to the men who wore the blue. We appeal to the sons of the men who followed Lee no less than to the sons of the men who followed Grant; for the memory of the great needs of both is now part of the common heritage of honor which belongs to all our people wherever they dwell.

No Hostile Feeling.

"We firmly believe that the American people feel hostility to no man who has honestly won success. We firmly believe that the American people ask only justice, justice each for himself and justice each for all others. They are against wickedness in rich man and poor man alike. They are against lawless and murderous violence exactly as they are against the sordid materialism which seeks wealth by trickery and cheating, whether on a large or a small scale. They wish to deal honestly and in good faith with all men. They recognize that the prime national need is honesty, honesty in public life and in private life, honesty in politics, honesty in the broadest and deepest significance of the word. We Progressives are trying to represent what we know to be the highest ideals and the deepest and most intimate convictions of the plain men and women, of the good men and women, who work for the home and within the home.

"Our people work hard and faithfully. They do not wish to shirk their work. They must feel pride in the work for the work's sake. But there must be bread for the work. There must be a time for play when the men and women are young. When they grow old there must be the certainty of rest under conditions free from the haunting terror of utter poverty. We believe that no life is worth anything unless it is a life of labor and effort and endeavor. We believe in the joy that comes with work; for he who labors best is really happiest. We must shape conditions so that no one can own the spirit of the man who loves his task and then gives the best there is in him to that task; and it matters not whether this man reaps and sows and wrests his livelihood from the rugged reluctance of the soil, or whether with his hand or brain he plays his part in the tremendous industrial activities of our great cities. We are striving to meet the needs of all these men, and to meet them in such fashion that all alike shall feel bound together in the bond of a common brotherhood, where each works hard for himself and for those dearest to him, and yet feels that he must also think of his brother's rights, because he is in very truth brother's keeper.

Repeats Former Statement.

"Seven months ago in this city, almost at the beginning of the present campaign, I spoke as follows: "The leader for the time being, whoever he may be, is but an instrument to be used until broken and then to be cast aside; and if he is worth his salt he will care no more when he is broken than a soldier cares when he is sent where his life is forfeit in order that the victory may be won. In the long fight for righteousness the watchword for all of us is spend and be spent. It is of little matter whether any one man fails or succeeds; but the cause shall not fail, for it is the cause of mankind. We, here in America, hold in our hands the hope of the world, the fate of the coming years; and shame and disgrace will be ours if in our eyes the light of high resolve is dimmed, if the trail in the dust the golden hopes of men."

"Friends, what I said then I say now. Surely there never was a greater opportunity than ours. Surely there never was a fight better worth making than this. I believe we shall win, but win or lose, I am glad beyond measure that I am one of the many who in this fight have stood ready to spend and be spent, pledged to fight while life lasts the great fight, for righteousness and for brotherhood and for the welfare of mankind.

None the Worse for Effort.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Colonel Roosevelt reached here shortly after mid-night, tired, but in excellent spirits and seemingly none the worse for his physical effort of the night.

"I stood it in fine shape, right up to the handle," he said.

PUBLICATION NOTICE.

In the County Court of said county. The December term, A. D., 1912. John Sheehan, administrator of the estates of John Logan, deceased, and Margaret Logan, deceased, vs. Frank L. Logan, alias Frank L. Looney, Annie Sherrer, Katie Sherrer, Katie Deering, Michael Dowling and Anna Sheehan.—Petition to sell real estate to pay debts. Affidavit of the non-residence of Frank L. Logan, alias Frank L. Looney and Annie Sherrer, two of the defendants above named, having been filed in the office of the clerk of the county court of Morgan county aforesaid, notice is hereby given to the said Frank L. Logan, alias Frank L. Looney and Annie Sherrer, that the said plaintiff, John Sheehan, administrator of the estates of John Logan, deceased, and Margaret Logan, deceased, has filed his petition in the said county court of Morgan county for an order to sell the premises belonging to the estates of said John Logan, deceased, and Margaret Logan, deceased, or so much of it as may be needed to pay the debts of said John Logan, deceased, and Margaret Logan, deceased, said real estate being situated in the County of Morgan and State of Illinois, and described as follows: Two (2) acres off of the west side of the following: Beginning at a point forty (40) rods due south of the northwest corner of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty-two (32) in township fourteen (14) north and range ten (10) west of the third principal meridian and running thence east forty (40) rods, thence south twenty (20) rods, thence west forty (40) rods and thence north twenty (20) rods to the place of beginning; and that summons has been issued out of said court against you returnable at the December term A. D. 1912 of said court to be holden on the first Monday of December A. D. 1912 at the court house in the city of Jacksonville, County of Morgan and State of Illinois, and that said proceeding is now pending.

Now unless you, the said Frank L. Logan, alias Frank L. Looney, and Annie Sherrer, shall personally be and appear before said county court of Morgan county on the first day of the next December term thereof to be holden at Jacksonville in said county on the first Monday of December, 1912, and plead, answer or demur to the said complainant's petition filed therein, the same and the matters and things therein charged and stated will be taken as confessed and a decree entered against you according to the prayer of said petition.

Dated October 21, 1912.

George L. Merrill,

Solicitor for Petitioner.

(Seal) C. A. Boruff,

Clerk of the County Court of Morgan County.

DEFENDS INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

Numerous articles have recently appeared in many papers emanating from various sources and purporting to give reasons in opposition to direct popular government. Especially are they vitriolic in their opposition to the initiative, referendum and recall.

Some of these writers refer to what they call the "common people" in such tender and courteous phrases as "the mob," and "the rabble," call them "ignorant," "anarchistic," incapable of self government, and repeat the fairy tales of history of how great men in their excessive wisdom had established social and governmental forms that would meet every need of a growing population and a progressive industrial system or all time.

It is admitted by some of the opponents of direct government that "popular rule" is and has been a farce, and they claim that the great and good men in the legislative, executive and judicial departments of the government are a kind of semi-divine class, who meet out justice, dispense wisdom and are, therefore, "sacred from criticism."

The theory of popular government has never been, in this country, as in all others, more of a theory than a fact. An instance in proof is the fact that any law demanded by the people, pledged by the ascendant party and the ruling class in power, has three chances of being defeated to one of becoming a law. After it has been passed by the United States congress, which is the only portion of the national government officials that are elected by direct vote of the people, it may be vetoed by the senate. If congress and the senate should both pass it, then it can be vetoed by the president; providing, however, that he did not veto it or that congress should pass it over his head. It will have reached its final destination and is subject to the dictum of the supreme judge, who holds the deciding vote—the American czar.

The question arises, do the people of this country know what they want and are they going to establish some method of procedure whereby they can accomplish their purpose or continue to intrust their destinies to the whims, the self-interest or the caprice of the man, who is not amenable to any one?

be a source of much annoyance to these guardians "of the public welfare" to have to submit the wisdom of their acts to the judgment of the "common people."

It would also be very humiliating to these paternal conservators of the public good to have the people disagree with their official conduct and retire them to private life, thus placing them in the position of servants. Suppose that the people do adopt some law that is detrimental to their own interests or commit any number of unwise acts of public policy? Very well, they have a right to make mistakes and they will have the power and the good sense to change them just as soon as they become apparent.

The very men who now make the greatest clamor against the adoption of these measures of popular government are the ones who, in the past, have made the loudest declarations of patriotism and have declared that "every man is a sovereign and the equal of every other man before the law."

In order to protect them from their own ignorance.

That the people are misinformed upon many questions of vital interest there is no doubt. But they are no more ignorant than the owning and ruling class, who attempt to stay the tide of industrial progress with their puny legislative enactments.

Direct legislation will lessen the importance of the professional politician and will do away with the "third house," the political "bargain counter," over which "legislation is bought and sold," the same as labor at the shop door, or the products of labor in the commercial arts.

It would really be too bad if the people had the power to restrain their representatives from the sale of legislation to the benevolent exploiters who desire to purchase privileges that they may convert them to the use of the "bear people."

It would indeed be a shame, if the "undesirables" had the power to recall such "monuments to the virtue of representative government" as Lee O'Neal Brown and Billy Lorimer, Judge Pollock and Hanford. That would never do, for don't you know that would be "mob rule?" It would "border on anarchy" and would "undermine the foundations of American Institutions?"

George Smith,

FINAL TESTIMONY IS TAKEN BY STATE IN LINDLOFF TRIAL

"Ball of Fate" Brought into Court Room—Mrs. Lindloff Will Probably Take Stand in Own Behalf Today.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The state today rested its case in the trial of Mrs. Louise Lindloff, for the murder of her son, Arthur. The $500 "ball of fate," as she described the great crystal glass globe into which she peered in the seclusion of a sombre-draped room to look afar into the future, and where she as a seeress and necromancer professed to read the fate of several of her relatives whose deaths are subjects of investigation, was the principal offering of evidence today. Witnesses told of finding poison in the viscera of three others of her family, who died, besides Arthur and Captain Barnard Baer, of the Chicago police force told of the discovery in her home of a small box of the same kind of mineral poison as that which toxicologists on the stand said caused the deaths. It was Captain Baer who told of the finding of the crystal ball and of its use, and it was placed on its stand today. As it was presented Mrs. Lindloff partly closed her eyes, gazing as though fascinated at the glistening globe, and became more visibly affect than at any previous time during the trial.

Mrs. Lindloff will take the stand in her own defense tomorrow, according to an announcement by her counsel.

MORTUARY*Bond.

A Beards-town paper gives the following notice of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Bond, mother of Mrs. James N. Conover of Webster avenue.

"Mrs. Elizabeth Gertrude Bond, after an illness of the past six months died at 8 p. m. Sunday, October 27th at the St. John's Hospital in Springfield. She was aged 48 years, 10 months and 6 days. The body was brought to the home of her brother, John Ruppel, 816 Washington street, this city from where a short funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, after which the body will be taken to the Fourth street Lutheran church where services will be held at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Oak Grove cemetery.

"Miss Elizabeth Gertrude Ruppel was born December 21st, 1863, at Springfield, Ill., the same city in which her useful life came to a close. Mrs. Bond made her home in Beards-town the greater part of her life and for many years resided on the corner of Tenth and Jackson streets. Last Thanksgiving season she went to Jacksonville to spend the day with her daughter, and since that time has resided with her daughter, until her continued illness necessitated her removal to the hospital. Death was due to multiple neuritis.

The deceased leaves only one daughter, Mrs. James Nelson Conover, of Jacksonville; and one sister, Miss Mollie Ruppel and three brothers, H. J. M. Ruppel, John Ruppel and Christian Ruppel, all of this city.

"Mrs. Bond was a highly respected resident of this city and had many friends. She was a seamstress by occupation. She became a member of the Fourth street Lutheran church in 1878, when on April 14th she was confirmed as one of the members of a class that on in at that time by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Lossler.

"She was a loving and devoted mother and a true and staunch friend. Her death has cast a gloom over the large circle of friends, who both admired and loved her.

Day.

Mrs. Mary Day died at her residence on North Diamond street Wednesday morning at 5:30 o'clock after a lingering illness. During the last few days she contracted pneumonia which hastened the end.

Mrs. Day was born in the Island of Madeira in June 1822, and at the time of her death had attained the age of 90 years. She was a devout Christian and a member of the Northminster church. Her husband preceded her in death twenty years ago and she is survived by the following children: Miss Mary, Henry, John, William H., Mrs. Joseph Correa, George, all of this city, and Joseph Day of Shreveport, La.

The funeral will be held from the residence Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

Moss.

Mrs. M. A. Moss, one of the oldest residents of the Concord neighborhood, died Wednesday at 12 o'clock at Our Savior's hospital. She had been in delicate health for a long time and had been at the hospital for care and treatment for over a year. She was a woman of strong convictions for the right and known for her kind heart and sweet disposition. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church and was always interested in every department of church work. Her husband was Benjamin Moss, who passed away some twenty years ago. Mr. Moss was a veteran of the civil war and suffered the loss of a leg in one of the battles of the war. For a long time he was postmaster at Concord.

They were the parents of two children, both of whom have passed away. Among the nieces and nephews surviving are Mrs. R. P. Smith of this city, John Ratcliff and Henry Williamson of Concord. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Margaret Young of Bunker Hill, Ill.

The remains were taken to the undertaking parlors of Williamson and Cody. Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon from the Methodist church of Concord and interment will be in the Concord cemetery.

HALLOWEEN*CELEBRATION

Tonight is the Time When Young and Old Make Merry—Police Will Prosecute Law Breakers.

Judging from the many parties planned in the city and country, Halloween will be duly celebrated in Morgan county tonight. Already a number of property owners have been looking after various means by which to protect their belongings from the "evil spirits," while the young folk have been figuring on a good time at most any expense. The police have heard of a number of pranks figured on, and Chief Davis expects to have extra men patrol the various yards looking after those who destroy property, or otherwise do not behave themselves decorously.

The celebration of Halloween originated with the early settlers of northern Europe, the Celts, or a race preceding them who formed the Druidic religion. October 31 was the date set for marketing their grains and produce, and on that date they held a celebration. It was called All Hallowe'en or All Saints day. At this particular time the Druids assembled together in snow white robes at stone altars, erected in honor of the Sun god. On these altars fires were burned throughout the year and on the night of Oct. 31, the Druids, at given signals, extinguished, one by one, the fires. They then lighted new fires on the altars and embers from these were taken by the people to their homes.

With the entrance of Christianity the old Druid custom slowly became prevented until finally the simple country folk came to believe the date a time when fairies issued forth from their hiding places to make merry through the forest glades. Witches, goblins and other evil spirits were also supposed to celebrate, but in deserted hovels, haunted houses and barren castles. Halloween finally came to be regarded as a charm against evil spirits and as late as the seventeenth century it was considered necessary for a farmer on that night to tramp over his acres brandishing a torch and chanting weird doggerels to charm his land for the next year.

Just how much influence the superstitions of the old custom have upon the people is difficult to estimate. One is really amazed, however, to see how the stories told by the fortune teller, the suggestions of the palmist, the work of the clairvoyant, hypnotist, influence the minds of people and a great many still believe in such things. There are persons today, who will not sit down to a table with thirteen in the party, a black cat running across one's path betokens ill luck, the horse-shoe brings good luck and certain jewels control the fate of those who wear them. But whatever superstitions may still linger in Halloween it is a time when the young folk make merry, when genuine fun reigns supreme and it is because of this fact, that the custom which antedating Christianity, still lives and the day ever welcomed.

HELD PUBLIC SALE.

Property of Cain Estate Sold at Good Figures.

J. M. Austin and Thomas Cain, as executors of the estate of Mrs. B. Cain, held a public sale Wednesday at the Cain homestead, five miles southeast of Jacksonville. There was a good attendance and everything commanded good prices. Horses sold from $75 to $277.50. Jake Strawn bought a team for $325; Dan L. Clark a mare and colt for $277.50; William Arnold a mare for $180, and a horse for $170; Howard Roach a horse for $125 and S. O. Shuff a mare for $155. Cows brought from $40 to $65; yearling heifers, $45.25; sows and pigs, $25 to $35; brood sows, $23.50; oats straw, 23c per bale; timothy hay, 54c per bale; oats, 30 1/2c per bale.

Jerry Cox and Jed Cox were the auctioneers and Robert R. Stevenson was the clerk. The Ladies' Aid society of Pisgah church served lunch and realized a neat sum.

DRAWING LARGE CROWDS.

Rev. J. C. Dent, who is conducting a series of revival meetings at the Baptist church at Litterberry is drawing large crowds to his meetings. In addition to preaching each evening Mr. Dent also devotes some time to singing. The meetings are being held each evening and the public is invited to attend.

BRING NO NEW FEATURES.

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 30.—Evidence obtained today by the defense in the murder trial of the nine members of the Brotherhood of Timber Workers contained no new features. Most of the testimony was by way of corroborations of the statements of other witnesses for the defense that the mill men and not the union men fired the first shot of the Grabow battle.

EXTRA POLICE TONIGHT.

Commissioner Engel and Chief of Police Davis have made arrangements for a number of special policemen to serve tonight. A sharp lookout will be kept on Halloween marauders.

AFRAID OF AUTOS.

An old lady crossing the street around the square Wednesday was heard to say that she did not fear street cars, buggies or the devil, but she greatly feared automobiles, as they move so noiselessly.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

The ladies' aid society of Clark's chapel held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Samuel Francis at her residence, northeast of the city. A large number of members was in attendance and after the regular business meeting a very delightful social hour was enjoyed. During the afternoon refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barr Brown and daughter Miss Emeline have issued invitations for a dance to be given Saturday night in Degen's hall in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Ray Newcomb of Indianapolis, Ind., Miss Margaret Carleton of Cleveland and Miss Mary Harwell of Nashville, Tenn.

Robert, Ernest and Miss Ella Visser entertained a company of about sixty friends at their home in Alexander, at a masquerade Halloween party Wednesday evening. The home was very prettily decorated in keeping with the occasion, corn stalks, crepe paper and jack o' lanterns being used. The evening was very pleasantly spent with various games and prizes were awarded for the best costumes, and also in the different contests. During the evening refreshments were served.

Men's Underwear from many of the leading makers are shown at FRANK BYRNS' Hat Store.

STUDENTS RAKE LEAVES.

Annual Event Observed by Pupils at Illinois College.

Illinois college students held their annual leaf raking celebration Wednesday. A half holiday was granted the students and each procured a rake and most of the afternoon was occupied in raking the campus. The leaves were dumped on the athletic field and when night came they were burned. The faculty members and those having wives prepared a splendid picnic supper for the toilers and the meal was eaten, while the leaves burned. Several friends in that part of town assembled to see the big fire and in all it was a merry occasion. The campus presents a pretty view, as the result of the celebration. After supper the students assembled in the gymnasium where a merry time was had until 8 o'clock.

BRINGS SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Roy Revis, by his attorney, F. P. Thompson, has begun a suit for divorce from his wife, Ella J. Revis. They were married July 10, 1908, and lived together until February, 1909. Desertion is the charge made.

CASE AGAINST STORE-KEEPER IS BEGUN BY GOVERNMENT

Government Alleged to Have Been Defrauded Out of $50,000 By Edwin F. Meyer.

SEATTLE, WASH., Oct. 30.—The United States government began, in the Federal court today, the presentation of its case against Edwin F. Meyer, former principal clerk in the Puget Sound navy yard store keeper's office, who is charged with conspiracy to defraud. The amount out of which the government is alleged to have been defrauded is $50,000. Meyer's defense, outlined today, will be that the price of Pacific battle ships in the yard in 1908 and the visit of the around-the-world fleet to Seattle resulted in rush orders for supplies and the temporary abrogation of the rules under which supplies are purchased by the navy.

U. S. VICE-PRESIDENTS.

The death of Vice-President Sherman, last night, has called to mind the fact that five other vice-presidents have died in office. They were George Clinton, who served with Madison; W. R. King, who served with Fillmore; Henry Wilson, who served with Grant; Thomas Hendricks, who served with Arthur; G. A. Hobart, who served with Cleveland. The only vice-presidents who succeeded themselves in office were John Adams, George Clinton and John C. Calhoun.

Mrs. James B. Daniels, of Rockford, and Mrs. William J. Wyatt, of Franklin, have returned after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Alonzo Groves, of Grove street.

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES.

Philatheas Entertain.

Mrs. Roy Duncan pleasantly entertained the Philatheas of Central Christian church Tuesday evening at a Halloween party. The guests came on costume and masked. The house was prettily decorated with chrysanthemums, autumn leaves and jack-o'-lanterns. A prize was given for the best costume which was won by Miss Harriet Davis, Miss Alma Batz won the prize for guessing correctly the largest number of the masked guests. Halloween games were played after which suitable refreshments were served.

Ebenezer Young People.

Tuesday night was the occasion of one of the most unique social functions of the season, when the members of the Epworth League of Ebenezer church gathered at the vacant tenant house on the farm of Ernest Dewees for a regular Halloween frolic. For some time there has been a contest on in the Epworth League between two sides—the "Reds," of which Miss Edna Reid was leader, and the "Whites," with Miss Muriel Standley as captain. The contest closed with the "Whites" as losers, and so it was up to them to provide a treat for the "Reds." The invitations read: "Hard Times party, Tuesday evening at Spook's Inn in Hobgoblin Hollow. Follow the ghosts." The fun part of it was, some of the "Reds" thought they knew without a pilot where "Spook's Inn" was and were not content to follow the ghosts, so were caused an unnecessary amount of travel before they finally found the real "festival hall." When all were at last assembled, the games began. In a cracker eating contest the "Whites" were the winners, and in drawing for the lucky number, Miss Bertha Whitlock received the prize. The house had been beautifully decorated by the committee in charge, with autumn leaves and pumpkin lanterns, and the refreshments of apples, doughnuts and pumpkin pies were decidedly in keeping with the occasion. A graphophone operated by Earl Bridgeman added to the amusement and at a late hour the merry party gradually disappeared from "Spook's Hollow" into the moonlit habitation of mortals.

Mrs. Ernest Frost was hostess at a Halloween party Wednesday night at her home on West State street, in honor of Mrs. Clarence Buckingham and Mrs. Claude Vall. The house was prettily decorated in Halloween colors and the evening proved a most enjoyable one.

The Alpha Beta society of the high school met Wednesday evening with Miss Jean Jenkins at her home, 616 West College avenue. It was a Halloween party and the decorations were in keeping with the event. The evening was spent in a social way by playing various games and in the peanut hunt, first prize was won by Miss Hazel Moxon. Delightful refreshments were served and all reported a merry time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rawlings of East College street, gave a Halloween party Wednesday evening in honor of their wedding anniversary. Members of the B. B. C. organization were present, and a few invited guests. All came dressed in various costumes appropriate to the occasion and the house was prettily decorated. Yellow and white were the colors in the dining room and in the parlor leaves and jack o' lanterns were used. The back kitchen had been tastefully fitted up for the witch's tent, by the use of corn stalks and autumn foliage. The evening was spent in playing various games and the witch's tent, where the fortunes were told, proved to be a very favorite spot. Light refreshments were served and at the close of the evening's fun, light refreshments were served.

FRED MONTGOMERY DIES AT PASSAVANT

Final Summons to Well Known Citizen. After a Brief Illness of Typhoid Pneumonia.

The sudden and unexpected death of Fred Montgomery at Passavant hospital Wednesday evening at 10:30 o'clock comes as a great shock to the community. Up until a week ago he was at his regular duties at the post office and his condition was not thought serious till Tuesday, when he developed symptoms of typhoid pneumonia. A consultation of physicians was held and it was deemed advisable to remove him to Passavant hospital, where he gradually grew worse until the end came. When first taken sick Mr. Montgomery thought he had an attack of the grip, and although, not feeling well for two or three days, kept at his work until he was forced to take to his bed. Although a man of strong physique all his life, the double attack of typhoid fever and pneumonia was more than his constitution could stand.

Everybody thought well of Fred Montgomery and few men in the city had more staunch friends than he. Having been born and reared in Morgan county, his acquaintance was broad and by his affable manner he ever held his friendships. He entered the employ of the post office when the office was located in the Duncan building on West State street and has ever been one of the valued employees of the government. At one time he was a railway mail clerk having a run from Chicago to Kansas City and was also a member of the National Association of Postal Clerks. He will be greatly missed in Jacksonville because of his broad sympathy, whole heartedness, genial countenance and devotion to that which is honorable and upright. He was a member of the First Baptist church and of Harmony Lodge No. 3, A. F. and A. M.

He was about 39 years of age and was married to Miss Hattie Head of Fairfield, Ill. She survives him together with one daughter, Catherine. He also leaves his mother, Miss Eliza J. Montgomery of South Diamond street and the following sisters and brothers, Mrs. Minerva Ingalls of Cuba, Mo.; Mrs. Samuel Henry of Woodson; Mrs. Leah Strawn of Jacksonville, Mrs. Benjamin Staunton of Chicago, Miss Georgia, James, Edwin, Harry of Jacksonville and Robert of Chicago. Funeral arrangements will be made later.
